Health and Government Operations

State Emblems - State Lighthouse - Millers Island Lighthouse

This bill designates Millers Island Lighthouse as the State lighthouse.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: Designating a State lighthouse does not affect governmental finances.

Local Effect: None.

Small Business Effect: None.

Analysis

Current Law: The Maryland State Flag was adopted in 1904, followed by the adoption of the Black-Eyed Susan as the State flower in 1918. Since then, the State has adopted 22 additional official symbols as shown in Exhibit 1. The Governor is also authorized to designate a citizen as the State's Poet Laureate.

Background: The Millers Island Lighthouse (also known as the Craighill Channel Lower Range Light Rear Lighthouse) is the tallest lighthouse in the State and is located in the Chesapeake Bay and the entrance to the Patapsco River. The lighthouse is one of the four Craighill range lights which mark the Brewerton Channel, a major segment of the approach to the commercial ports of Baltimore. The Millers Island Lighthouse was commissioned in 1873 and completed in 1875. It was constructed in a unique style for the Chesapeake Bay and is painted with a white base, a red top, and a gray lantern. The lighthouse was added to the National Register of Historic Places in December 2002.

The U.S. Lighthouse Society, Chesapeake Chapter identifies 25 lighthouses in the Maryland portion of the Chesapeake Bay as being original, existing, or replica lighthouses and an additional 15 lighthouses that have been dismantled, destroyed, or reconstructed as a modern design.
