§19–410.

A home health agency may not hold itself out as providing a complete array of physical rehabilitation services unless the home health agency:

(1) Provides a program of coordinated interdisciplinary rehabilitative care, including at a minimum, physical and occupational therapy, speech and language therapy, audiology therapy, psychotherapy, and social work services;

(2) Holds interdisciplinary meetings with the involvement of a physician to plan and monitor patient care; and

(3) Meets any other standard that the Secretary may adopt by regulation.
