A BILL ENTITLED

AN ACT concerning

Protect Our Health and Communities Act

FOR the purpose of prohibiting the Department of the Environment from issuing a permit to authorize the hydraulic fracturing of a well for the exploration or production of natural gas in the State until a certain date and until a certain panel is appointed, convenes, and reports to the Governor and General Assembly on a certain date; establishing a certain panel of experts for certain purposes; requiring the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Delegates to appoint a certain number of members to the panel in accordance with certain requirements; requiring the panel to be appointed and convened on or after a certain date; requiring the panel to examine certain scientific literature through a certain date; requiring the panel to report to the Governor and General Assembly on a certain date; defining a certain term; and generally relating to hydraulic fracturing for the exploration or production of natural gas.

(2014 Replacement Volume)

Preamble

WHEREAS, Exposure to the chemicals used or released in well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities may pose a widespread and significant risk to public health, safety, and the environment; and

WHEREAS, Well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities can involve the use of high volumes of chemicals, some of which are known to be carcinogenic, neurotoxic, endocrine disruptors, or could otherwise be harmful to human health; and

EXPLANATION: CAPITALS INDICATE MATTER ADDED TO EXISTING LAW.
[Brackets] indicate matter deleted from existing law.
WHEREAS, Well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities may release chemicals, including methanol, crystalline silica dust, hydrochloric and hydrofluoric acids, xylene, 2–butoxyethanol, naphthalene, ethylbenzene, 2–propanol, volatile organic compounds, and particulate matter; and

WHEREAS, Well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities may involve the use of significant amounts of freshwater which are then permanently removed from the water cycle; and

WHEREAS, Well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities may result in the emission of greenhouse gases, such as carbon dioxide and methane; and

WHEREAS, The disposal of wastewater resulting from well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities into underground injection wells in other states has been linked to increased earthquake activity; and

WHEREAS, Well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities may harm wildlife, including species that are protected under federal and state endangered species laws; and

WHEREAS, Nondisclosure agreements and industry secrecy have hampered public health researchers, regulators, and policymakers; and

WHEREAS, Scientific research is only now emerging to help us understand the impacts of well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities on human populations and the environment, with over 70% of such research being published since January 2013; and

WHEREAS, Emerging scientific research confirms that well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities are inherently risky and there is little scientific research to support the claim that they can be carried out in a way that reduces health and environmental risks to an acceptable level; and

WHEREAS, The final report of the Marcellus Shale Safe Drilling Initiative concedes that implementing “best management practices” cannot eliminate the risks involved in well stimulation and well stimulation–related activities and that many gaps remain in the information with which it was working; now, therefore,

SECTION 1. BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF MARYLAND, That the Laws of Maryland read as follows:

(2) “HYDRAULIC FRACTURING” INCLUDES:

(I) Fracking;

(II) Hydrofracking; and

(III) Hydrofracturing.

(B) THE DEPARTMENT MAY NOT ISSUE A PERMIT UNDER THIS SUBTITLE TO AUTHORIZE THE HYDRAULIC FRACTURING OF A WELL FOR THE EXPLORATION OR PRODUCTION OF NATURAL GAS IN THE STATE UNTIL:
