Analysis

Bill Summary:

Tax Credit Evaluations

The bill adds the cybersecurity investment, RISE, and job creation tax credits to the list of credits to be reviewed by the tax credit evaluation committee under the Tax Credit Evaluation Act. The bill also eliminates the requirement that the committee evaluate the wineries and vineyards tax credit. The following credits are to be reviewed by the dates indicated:

- July 1, 2017: businesses that create new jobs and job creation credits;
- July 1, 2018: research and development and biotechnology investment credits; and
- July 1, 2019: RISE and cybersecurity investment credits.

The bill also (1) eliminates the requirement that, in lieu of a specified evaluation date, a credit must be evaluated in the year preceding the termination date of the credit and (2) alters the date by which the Department of Legislative Services (DLS) must publish an evaluation of the credit from October 31 to November 15 and the date by which the evaluation committee must hold a public hearing on the evaluation report from December 14 to December 31. The agency that administers a tax credit subject to evaluation must provide information to and otherwise cooperate with DLS and the evaluation committee.

Under current law, a tax credit designated for evaluation under the Tax Credit Evaluation Act is subject to reevaluation five years after the initial evaluation. The bill increases this time period to seven years.

Comptroller's Office Requirements

The Comptroller must adopt procedures and protocols related to the administration of Maryland's tax system to (1) improve the accuracy and collection of tax data necessary to allow for more effective evaluations of State tax incentive programs; (2) notwithstanding any federal or State confidentiality requirements, share with DLS and other appropriate State agencies data related to State tax incentive programs to better assess the effectiveness of those programs; and (3) implement a private letter ruling process for tax guidance. If the Comptroller determines that adopting these procedures and protocols will have more than an incidental impact on the Comptroller's annual budget, the Comptroller must request additional resources in the agency's fiscal 2018 budget request to the Governor.

Current Law:

Tax Credit Evaluations

The Tax Credit Evaluation Act of 2012 (Chapters 568 and 569) established a legislative process for evaluating certain tax credits. The evaluation process is conducted by a legislative evaluation committee that is appointed jointly by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House.

By October 31 of the year prior to a tax credit's evaluation date, DLS is required to publish a report evaluating the tax credit. The report submitted by DLS must discuss (1) the purpose for which the tax credit was established; (2) whether the original intent of the tax credit is still appropriate; (3) whether the tax credit is meeting its objectives; (4) whether the goals of the tax credit could be more effectively carried out by other means; and (5) the cost of the tax credit to the State and local governments. By December 14 of the same year, the evaluation committee must hold a public hearing on the evaluation report.

By the twentieth day of the legislative session before the evaluation date of a tax credit, the committee is required to submit a report to the General Assembly that states whether or not the tax credit should be continued, with or without changes, or terminated.

The Act specifies the year in which a tax credit must be evaluated. In lieu of the specified evaluation date, if a tax credit has a termination date provided for by law, an evaluation of that credit must be made on or before July 1 of the year preceding the calendar year of the termination date.

Under current law, the following credits are to be reviewed by the date indicated:

- July 1, 2014: enterprise zone and One Maryland economic development credits;
- July 1, 2015: earned income and film production activity credits;
- July 1, 2016: sustainable communities credit;
- July 1, 2017: businesses that create new jobs, biotechnology investment, and wineries and vineyards credits; and
- July 1, 2020: research and development tax credit.

Tax Credit Programs

Businesses and individuals can claim a credit for qualifying activities under the cybersecurity investment, job creation, and RISE tax credit programs, as discussed below.

Background:

Maryland Economic Development and Business Climate Commission

In March 2014, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Delegates appointed the Maryland Economic Development and Business Climate Commission to focus on the State's economic development structure and incentive programs in order to make recommendations to the Presiding Officers. The commission's 26 members come from a broad spectrum of backgrounds and have had business involvement in many states, as well as abroad.

A report containing 10 findings and 32 recommendations was submitted to the Presiding Officers in February 2015. The principal finding of the commission is that Maryland has not nearly reached its potential in growing business and creating jobs. The recommendations in the report address various short- and long-term aspects of this principal finding and related findings. As a result, five pieces of legislation were enacted into law during the 2015 session that addressed many of the commission's recommendations.

In March 2015, the Presiding Officers asked the commission to review and make recommendations on certain tax issues affecting economic development and the State's business climate. In a report issued in January 2016, the commission offered 14 recommendations to improve the State's business tax structure, 13 of which were proposed for implementation at the present time and a fourteenth, a reduction in individual income taxes, that should be implemented when other recommendations have been assimilated and the State's revenues and economy have strengthened.

The commission found that Maryland's current tax structure is a detriment to the State's competitiveness in attracting and retaining businesses as well as in creating jobs and expanding the revenue base of the government itself. The commission also found, however, that the State has many competitive advantages, particularly an educational system that has helped produce one of the most highly qualified workforces in the nation.

This bill reflects several of the commission's recommendations, including that the State (1) rigorously evaluate tax incentive programs and make changes necessary to assure that these programs are effective; (2) develop methods to better analyze and track claims for tax credits, particularly for tax credits that are filed electronically, and to report such information to the Governor and General Assembly; and (3) institute a private letter ruling process to provide tax guidance and adopt an appropriate administrative fee to be paid by the requesting taxpayer.

Tax Credit Evaluation Committee

To date, the tax credit evaluation committee has reviewed the enterprise zone, One Maryland, earned income, film production activity, and sustainable communities tax credit programs. The DLS evaluations of the Enterprise Zone, One Maryland, earned income, film production activity, and sustainable communities tax credit programs can be found on the DLS website.

Cybersecurity Investment Tax Credit

Chapter 390 of 2013 established a tax credit for investments in qualified cybersecurity companies. A qualified Maryland cybersecurity company can claim a credit equal to 33% of a qualified investment, not to exceed $250,000. A qualified investment is an at-risk investment of at least $25,000 in exchange for stock or ownership interest. Generally, the total amount of tax credits issued in the fiscal year cannot exceed the amount appropriated to the Maryland cybersecurity investment tax credit reserve fund in that year. The fiscal 2017 budget includes $2 million in funding for the program. The credit terminates on June 30, 2019.

RISE Zone Tax Credits

Chapter 530 of 2014 established the RISE Zone program, which is administered by the Department of Commerce. RISE zones must be located in the immediate proximity of a private or public four-year institution or community college. A business may be eligible for (1) a property tax credit for local real and personal property taxes imposed on qualified property; (2) an income tax credit for the qualified employees hired by the business; and (3) priority consideration for assistance from Department of Commerce financial assistance programs. Businesses located within a focus area qualify for enhanced credits. One RISE zone has been approved to date, which is located directly adjacent to the University of Maryland, Baltimore, in the university's BioPark.

Job Creation Tax Credit

Businesses that expand or establish a facility in Maryland resulting in the creation of at least 60 new jobs within a two-year period may be eligible to claim the job creation tax credit. The value of the credit depends on the number of jobs created, the wages of those jobs in the year the credit was claimed, and whether the jobs were created in a revitalization area. In the last several years an average of 50 businesses have claimed about $500,000 in job creation tax credits annually. The program terminates January 1, 2020.

Private Letter Rulings

The publication of tax guidance is generally considered a key feature of fair and efficient tax administration. Guidance in many states is provided through private letter rulings, which are written statements issued to a taxpayer that interpret and apply tax laws to the taxpayer's represented set of facts. This guidance generally may not be relied on as precedent by other taxpayers. The degree to which a private letter ruling is binding on the tax administrator that issues the guidance varies from state to state.

The Comptroller's Office currently issues declaratory rulings in response to petitions by taxpayers for formal guidance with respect to the applicability to a person, property or state, of facts pertaining to the laws or the regulations administered by the Comptroller. Although the Comptroller's Office has published a number of frequently asked questions for individual and business taxpayers on its website and offers "tax tips" for taxpayers, Maryland does not currently issue tax guidance through private letter rulings. According to the Council on State Taxation, 33 states issue some type of private letter rulings.

State Expenditures: The Comptroller must adopt procedures and protocols related to the administration of Maryland's tax system to (1) improve the accuracy and collection of tax data necessary to allow for more effective evaluations of State tax incentive programs and (2) implement a private letter ruling process. If the Comptroller determines that adopting these procedures and protocols will have more than an incidental impact on the Comptroller's annual budget, the Comptroller must request additional resources in the agency's fiscal 2018 budget request to the Governor.

As a result, general fund expenditures may increase significantly beginning in fiscal 2018. The Comptroller's Office advises that general fund expenditures may increase by a total of $1.2 million in fiscal 2018, which reflects:

- $650,000 due to programming costs to improve the accuracy and collection of tax credit data; and
- $502,000 to implement a private letter ruling process reflecting the hiring of two tax consultants, two assistant State Comptrollers, and one administrative specialist.

DLS can implement the bill within existing budgeted resources.
