Anne Arundel County - Landlord and Tenant - Procedures for Repossession for Failure to Pay Rent

This bill alters the procedures for enforcing an action for repossession for failure to pay rent in Anne Arundel County. The bill specifies that nothing in it restricts the authority of Anne Arundel County to enact legislation governing landlords and tenants, including legislation establishing penalties for a violation of the bill's provisions. The bill applies prospectively and may not be applied to any cause of action for repossession for failure to pay rent brought in Anne Arundel County arising before the bill's October 1, 2021 effective date.

Analysis

Bill Summary: In Anne Arundel County, subject to specified limitations, if judgment is entered in favor of the landlord, the landlord, the landlord's duly qualified agent, or the landlord's attorney may provide for repossession of the property by notifying the tenant of the intended repossession in writing (1) sent by certified first-class mail, at least 14 days before the intended date of repossession and (2) posted on the front door of the leased premises at least 7 days before the intended date of repossession. The required notice must include:

- the District Court summary ejectment case number;
- the tenant's name as stated in the lease or otherwise agreed to by the landlord;
- the address of the leased premises;
- the date on which the warrant of restitution was ordered by the District Court;
- the date of the eviction;
- a statement that the repossession may occur unless the tenant (1) returns control of the leased premises to the landlord or (2) exercises his or her specified right to redemption, if available;
- a statement that, if the repossession occurs, all property remaining in the leased premises will be considered abandoned and may be disposed of on execution of the warrant of restitution; and
- a statement that the notice is the final notice to the tenant of the intended repossession, even if the repossession is stayed due to extreme weather conditions.

There is a rebuttable presumption that the tenant was notified as required if the landlord provides (1) the certificate of mailing and (2) a signed affidavit of the person who posted the notice on the front door of the leased premises. However, if the sheriff reasonably believes that the landlord has not provided the required notice, the sheriff (1) must notify the District Court and (2) may not execute the warrant of restitution without further order of the District Court. If the District Court finds that the landlord did not provide the required notice, the District Court must vacate the warrant of restitution.

If the landlord presents the certificate of mailing and a signed affidavit of the person who posted the notice on the leased premises, any official of the county entitled to serve process may execute the warrant by putting the landlord, the landlord's duly qualified agent, or the landlord's attorney in possession of the premises, without removal of any personal property from the premises. All personal property remaining in or about the leased premises at the time that the warrant of restitution is executed must be deemed abandoned. The landlord or any person acting on the landlord's behalf may not be liable for any loss or damage to property deemed abandoned, and the landlord may dispose of abandoned property by (1) transportation to a licensed landfill; (2) donation to charity; or (3) any other legal means. Property deemed abandoned under the bill may not be placed in a public right-of-way or on any public property.

Current Law: Generally, whenever the tenant fails to pay the rent when due and payable, the landlord may repossess the leased premises. Statute contains specific requirements related to filing a complaint, issuing a summons, adjourning the proceedings to procure a witness, executing judgment in favor of the landlord, surrendering the premises by the tenant, and the effect of tender of rent by the tenant.

Removal of Tenant for Noncompliance with Judgment in Favor of Landlord

If judgment is in favor of the landlord and the tenant does not return the premises to the landlord within four days, the court must, at any time after the four days have elapsed, issue a warrant, directed to any official of the county entitled to serve process, ordering the official to take the necessary action to put the landlord in possession of the property. The warrant must also authorize removal from the property of all the furniture, implements, tools, goods, effects, or other chattels (personal property) belonging to the tenant.

If the landlord does not order a warrant of restitution within 60 days from either the date of judgment or the expiration date of any stay of execution (whichever is later), then (1) the judgment for possession must be stricken and (2) the judgment must generally count toward the threshold for the number of judgments at which a tenant no longer has the right to redemption of the leased premises. Specifically, when three judgments of possession have already been entered against a tenant within the previous 12 months, the tenant is prohibited from being able to redeem the leased premises by paying all past-due amounts.

The administrative judge of any district may stay the execution of a warrant of restitution of a residential property, from day to day, in the event of extreme weather conditions. When a weather-related stay has been granted, the execution of the warrant of restitution must be given priority and completed within three days after the extreme weather conditions cease.
