

Testimony to the House Economic Matters Committee
HB 333: Hospitals-Financial Assistance-Medical Bill Reimbursement Process
Position: Favorable

February 28, 2022

The Honorable Joseline Pena-Melnyk, Chair
Health and Government Operations Committee
Room 241, House Office Building
Annapolis, Maryland 21401
Cc: Members, HGO Committee

Honorable Chair Pena Melnyk and Members of the Committee:

Economic Action Maryland (formerly the Maryland Consumer Rights Coalition) is a people-centered movement to expand economic rights, housing justice, and community reinvestment for working families, low-income communities, and communities of color. Economic Action Maryland provides direct assistance today while passing legislation and regulations to create systemic change in the future.

We are here today in strong support of HB 333.

A December 2020 HSCRC report found that 60% of patients who should have gotten free hospital care instead were wrongly pursued by hospitals who used aggressive debt collection tactics to try to collect on unpaid care. Collectively, these low-income patients paid $120 million to hospitals over two years despite the fact that they should have received free care.

Last session, this committee and the House passed HB694 with bipartisan support. HB 694 required stakeholders to come together to develop a process to identify patients who were overcharged, notify these patients that they are entitled to a refund, and provide refunds to those former patients that contact the hospitals. This is a bipartisan issue to ensure that patients are made whole.

HB 333 is a technical bill to implement the legislation that passed in 2022. It creates a process for state agencies to share data, protects patients' privacy, and ensures that a safe address is used for victims of intimate partner violence.

HB 333 establishes the process for data-sharing between agencies, sets a threshold for success, and outlines disposal of data. As outlined in the bill, the process is as follows:

- Hospitals will collect data on patients who paid bills for services in the time period covered under the legislation (2017-2021).
- The hospital data on these patients be combined with data from the Office of the Comptroller and DHS to identify patients who may be eligible for refunds for hospital financial assistance
- After this matching process, the Office of the Comptroller would send letters to those patients who were identified as having incomes at or below 200 percent FPL, using the current safe address (or current address, if there is no safe address) from the hospital.
- Patients would reach out to the hospitals to request a refund based on the letters received from DHS or the Office of the Comptroller. Based on the letter, the hospital would determine if the patients were eligible for free care and provide a refund to those that overpaid.

HB 333 establishes a process for data sharing between agencies in order to implement the process passed in 2022 and provides assistance to affected consumers through the Office of the Attorney General. Passage of HB 333 will enable patients who were wrongly charged by Maryland hospitals to be made whole.

As inflation causes food, utilities, and rents to soar, working families are struggling to make ends meet. Many are living paycheck to paycheck and cutting back on basic necessities. Providing refunds to patients that were wrongly charged will provide critical support to financially fragile families statewide.

From a consumer protection standpoint, providing these refunds are critically important. A recent Washington Post article reported that medical debt dramatically lowered individuals credit scores. Lower credit scores limit individuals' access to credit, to certain rental properties, and in some cases to employment.

Medical debt also deters individuals from seeking hospital care. Our 2020 Gonzales poll found that 53% of those who couldn't afford to pay an unexpected $500 medical bill stated that they have delayed or avoided care because of concerns about costs. As new COVID variants emerge and the number of people with Long COVID grows, it is critical that medical debt doesn't stop patients from seeking care.

For all of these reasons, we support HB 333 and urge a favorable report.

Best,

Marceline White
