

As the public library systems in Maryland have been hosting controversial and political events, putting them at odds with their chartered purpose and their communities both, and the Howard County auditor in particular has been threatened with being terminated due to his attempts to investigate the practices of that county's library system, I am against giving the libraries such large sums of unrestricted funds until these issues of theirs are investigated and resolved.