

To whom it may concern,

Childcare in Maryland is already overloaded and quite expensive. Most such places have a long waiting list to get in at all. Adding more requirements, however well intentioned, will add to the difficulty of adding capacity. This worsens shortages and adds to the already notable price.

Accordingly, the effects of this bill are straightforwardly negative, and this bill should not move forward.

Thank you,
Travis Lerol