

Bill #: HB 0393

Committee: House Health Committee

Position: Favorable

Hearing Date: Thursday February 5, 2026

My name is Alysen Regiec, and I live in Anne Arundel County, Maryland. I am an eight-year breast cancer survivor and a strong advocate for scalp cooling. I submit this testimony in strong support of House Bill 0393, which would require insurance coverage for scalp cooling during chemotherapy.

In 2018, I was treated for Stage 2A HER2-positive breast cancer at Chesapeake Oncology and Hematology Associates (COHA) at Baltimore Washington Medical Center. My treatment included TCHP chemotherapy—a powerful four-drug regimen—followed by surgery and radiation. During chemotherapy, I used the DigniCap scalp cooling system, and it made an extraordinary difference in my experience. Preserving my hair allowed me to continue working in the office and maintain a sense of normalcy during a deeply challenging time.

As a mother of two young children, it was especially important that they not see their mom looking sick. Maintaining our routines and shielding them from fear helped me stay grounded, and scalp cooling played a critical role in that stability. It transformed a difficult journey into one that felt more manageable.

Unfortunately, scalp cooling was not covered by insurance and came with significant out-of-pocket cost. I was fortunate to have family support, but many patients do not. I feel that no one should have to sacrifice well-being because of cost.

I respectfully urge a favorable recommendation on this Bill, so that more cancer patients in Maryland can access and benefit from this meaningful therapy during treatment.

Sincerely,

Alysen Regiec
