FISCAL NOTE

Senate Bill 37 (Senator Craig)

Judicial Proceedings

---

Education - Notice of Arrest - Controlled Dangerous Substance Offenses

---

This bill requires law enforcement agencies to notify the local superintendent of schools when a student is arrested for offenses involving controlled dangerous substances. The State's Attorney is required to notify the local superintendent of the disposition of the case. Under current law, such notifications are only required for offenses involving crimes of violence or weapons violations.

---

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: None. Requiring State law enforcement agencies to notify local school officials of a student's arrest could be handled with existing resources.

Local Effect: Requiring that local school officials be notified of students committing offenses involving controlled dangerous substances should not result in any additional local expenditures.

Small Business Effect: None.

Fiscal Analysis

Local Effect: Under current law, local school superintendents must be notified by law enforcement agencies when students are arrested for offenses involving crimes of violence or weapon violations and by the State's Attorney when the cases are adjudicated by the courts. As illustrated in Exhibit 1, juveniles committed over 12,000 violent criminal acts in 1995. That same year, juveniles committed around 8,000 drug related offenses. Expanding the definition of reportable offenses to include controlled dangerous substances would result in a two-thirds increase in the number of cases being reported to school officials, with most of the increase occurring in Baltimore City.

Exhibit 1
Violent Crime Committed by Juveniles

Criminal Offense	1995 Incidents
Murder/Manslaughter	129
Forcible Rape	137
Sexual Assault	410
Robbery	1,350
Felonious Assault	2,012
Other Assaults	6,998
Weapons Violations	1,248
Total Offenses*	12,284

*May not include all types of violent criminal offenses.

As illustrated in Exhibit 2, Baltimore City comprises 45% of the drug related juvenile offenses, followed by Baltimore County with 11%, and Prince George’s County with 9%. However, Baltimore City advises that they already provide this information to local school officials. Therefore, given the distribution of offenses across the State, it is anticipated that law enforcement agencies and State’s Attorney offices could handle the reporting requirements within existing resources.
