Analysis

Current Law: The Office of the State Prosecutor conducts criminal investigations of alleged misconduct by public officials and violations of the State election and public ethics laws on its own initiative or at the request of the Governor, the Attorney General, the General Assembly, the State Ethics Commission, or a State's Attorney. Specific types of investigations include criminal offenses under the State election and conflict of interest laws, violations of the State bribery laws involving a public official, criminal malfeasance in office committed by a public official, multi-jurisdictional offenses, and violations of the State obstruction of justice, perjury, and extortion laws.

Background: The Governor's proposed fiscal 2001 budget includes $866,829 in general funds for the operation of the Office of the State Prosecutor.

State Expenditures: The Office of the State Prosecutor estimates that it would be assigned two to three homicide cases annually as a result of the bill, and that it would consequently need to hire an investigator with special expertise and training in homicide cases. General fund expenditures would increase by an estimated $49,226 in fiscal 2001, which takes into account the bill's October 1, 2000 effective date. This estimate includes salary for a special agent I, fringe benefits, one-time office equipment purchases, communications, travel, automobile expense, supplies, and office space.

Salaries and Fringe Benefits	$39,784
Office Equipment	4,520
Ongoing Operating Expenses	4,922
Total FY 2001 State Expenditures	$49,226

Future year expenditures reflect (1) full salary with 4.5% annual increases and 3% employee turnover; and (2) 1% annual increases in ongoing operating expenses.

Funds for a new investigator are not included in the Governor's proposed fiscal 2001 budget.
