Campaign Expenditures - Payment by Check Card or Debit Card

This bill authorizes a campaign finance entity to make a disbursement using a check card or debit card that has been issued to the entity.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: The bill would not directly affect State finances.

Local Effect: None.

Small Business Effect: None.

Analysis

Current Law: The State election code prohibits a campaign finance entity from directly or indirectly making a disbursement except by a check from a designated campaign account. A campaign finance entity or individual authorized by the entity may pay an expense of the entity from funds other than the campaign account if: (1) the expense is supported by a receipt provided to the campaign finance entity; and (2) the campaign finance entity reimburses the person who paid the expense by check from the campaign account and reports the expense as an expenditure of the campaign.

Background: The bill is in response to the increasing number of vendors that no longer accept paper checks for payment. Currently, credit card expenditures are made by a campaign through the personal credit cards of individuals, who are then reimbursed by check from the campaign account.
