Analysis

Current Law: With certain exceptions, the county commissioners of every county may sell at public sale any property when no longer needed for public use. In Somerset County, the county commissioners may sell any interest in surplus property held by the county by acceptance of sealed bids solicited by advertisement. If the highest bid fails to yield a reasonable price for the property, the county commissioners can reject all bids. If all bids are rejected, the county commissioners may proceed to sell the property by re-advertising for sealed bids or through public auction.

In a number of counties, including Somerset, the county commissioners may negotiate the sale of real property owned by the county school board with any governmental body or agency in the county if the property is deemed no longer needed. The sale can be completed without advertising after three independent appraisals have been obtained.

The Commissioners of Somerset County have been authorized to sell certain properties under terms deemed appropriate by the county commissioners, without public sale. Chapter 313 of 2007 authorized the sale of a property known as Witton Elementary School to Shore Up, Inc. Chapter 386 of 2007 authorized the county to sell four properties to the City of Crisfield.

Background: The Somerset County Commissioners, ex officio, constitutes the county roads board. As advised by the county, Charlie Swift Road is an access road that runs by a mobile home park.

Local Fiscal Effect: The Somerset County Roads Board would be able to negotiate the private sale of county property, which may result in a sale price below the fair market appraisal. As advised by the county, the sale proceeds from the specified property are not expected to be significant. County road maintenance expenses would decrease by a minimal amount.
