FISCAL AND POLICY NOTE

House Bill 1487 (Delegate Rosenberg)
 Economic Matters

Public Safety - Emergency Management - Essential Goods and Services

This emergency bill prohibits specified types of pricing for certain goods and services during or subsequent to a “state of emergency.” Violation of the bill’s provisions is an unfair or deceptive trade practice under the Maryland Consumer Protection Act, subject to MCPA’s civil penalties.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: General fund expenditures could increase by approximately $58,000 in FY 2009 for additional staff to assist the Secretary of State with implementation of the bill. Future year expenditure estimates reflect annualization and inflation. Potential increase in general fund revenues due to the bill’s imposition of existing civil penalty provisions. If the Attorney General’s Office receives fewer than 50 complaints per year stemming from the bill, the additional workload could be handled with existing resources. The extent to which this bill could affect purchases of goods or services by the State during a state of emergency cannot be readily predicted or quantified.

(in dollars)	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011	FY 2012	FY 2013
GF Revenue	-	-	-	-	-
GF Expenditure	58,000	78,700	82,400	86,300	90,400
Net Effect	($58,000)	($78,700)	($82,400)	($86,300)	($90,400)

Note:() = decrease; GF = general funds; FF = federal funds; SF = special funds; - = indeterminate effect

Local Effect: Potential increase in revenues due to the bill’s imposition of existing civil penalty provisions. The extent to which this bill could affect purchases of goods or services by a local government during a state of emergency cannot be readily predicted or quantified.

Small Business Effect: Potential meaningful.

Analysis

Bill Summary: The bill prohibits a person, during a state of emergency, from selling or offering to sell essential goods or services specified by executive order of the Governor (other than services used for emergency cleanup) for a price of more than 20% above the highest price charged by the person charged for those goods and services not more than 60 days or less than 4 days prior to the state of emergency. During a state of emergency, and for the next 90 days, a person may not sell or offer to sell repair or reconstruction services (or services used for emergency cleanup) for more than 20% over the highest price charged by the person charged immediately prior to the state of emergency.

A price increase of more than 20% may be charged if the person can prove that the increase was directly attributable to • additional costs imposed by the supplier of the goods, including replacement costs; or • additional costs for labor or materials used to provide the services or produce the goods, including costs to repair any damage related to the emergency.

The bill requires the Office of the Attorney General to provide notice to a person whose actions may be in violation of the bill's provisions at least 10 days before an action is filed. This notice must state the general relief sought by the office and provide the person with an opportunity to present evidence that the price increase was not unlawful.

The bill adds a situation involving a critical shortage of essential goods or services as defined by the bill to the list of situations that constitute a state of emergency.

The bill requires the Secretary of State to adopt regulations to establish a system by which a person may register to receive electronic notification • stating that a state of emergency has been declared and an executive order has been issued; • stating that the provisions of the bill are in effect; and • listing the categories or individual essential goods and services that are covered by the executive order of the Governor.

Current Law: If the Governor finds that an emergency has developed or is impending due to any cause, the Governor must declare a state of emergency by executive order or proclamation. The state of emergency continues until the Governor • finds that the threat or danger has passed or the emergency has been dealt with to the extent that emergency conditions no longer exist; and • terminates the state of emergency by executive order or proclamation.

A state of emergency may not continue for longer than 30 days unless renewed by the Governor. The General Assembly by joint resolution may terminate a state of emergency at any time.

The Governor may • authorize use in another state of personnel, equipment, supplies, or materials of this State, or of a political subdivision with the consent of the executive officer or governing body of the political subdivision; and • suspend the effect of any statute or rule or regulation of an agency of the State or, after consulting with the executive officer or governing body of a political subdivision, suspend a rule or regulation of an agency of a political subdivision if the Governor finds that the suspension is necessary to aid the State with its emergency management functions.

Only the principal executive officer of a political subdivision may declare a local state of emergency. A local state of emergency may not continue or be renewed for longer than seven days without the consent of its governing body.

The Consumer Protection Division within the Office of the Attorney General is responsible for pursuing unfair and deceptive trade practice claims under the Maryland Consumer Protection Act. Upon receiving a complaint, the division must determine whether there are “reasonable grounds” to believe that a violation of MCPA has occurred. Generally, if the division does find reasonable grounds that a violation has occurred, the division must seek to conciliate the complaint. The division may also issue cease-and-desist orders, or seek action in court, including an injunction or civil damages, to enforce the Act. Violators of MCPA are subject to • civil penalties of $1,000 for the first violation and $5,000 for subsequent violations; and • criminal sanction as a misdemeanor, with a fine of up to $1,000 and/or up to one year’s imprisonment.

State Expenditures: General fund expenditures could increase by an estimated $58,001 in fiscal 2009, which accounts for the bill’s October 1 effective date. This estimate reflects the cost of hiring one information technology professional to assist the Secretary of State with implementation and maintenance of the bill’s electronic notification process. This estimate includes a salary, fringe benefits, one-time start-up costs, and ongoing operating expenses.

Positions	1
Salary and Fringe Benefits	$53,343
Operating Expenses	4,658
Total FY 2009 State Expenditures	$58,001

Future year expenditures reflect • a full salary with 4.4% annual increases and 3% employee turnover; and • 2% annual increases in ongoing operating expenses.

Small Business Effect: Potential meaningful. Almost any emergency will raise costs to a retailer, who does not operate on fixed margins. In addition, the asking price for a product 4 days prior to a state of emergency (or not more than 60 days prior) may not represent a true margin for any seller for that month or year. Because all costs for a seller of goods or services, including costs for heating oil and gasoline, can fluctuate by more than 20% over any given 4- to 60-day period, the bill could negatively impact a seller by more than can be recouped under the bill's pricing limits – this may be especially true during the 90 days following the state of emergency.
