Analysis

Current Law: In 1998, Maryland and 45 other states signed MSA with the four largest tobacco product manufacturers in the United States. MSA requires these manufacturers to pay the states in exchange for the states releasing them of past, present, and certain future claims. The manufacturers also must fund a national public health foundation and change their advertising and marketing practices and corporate culture to reduce underage smoking.

Chapter 169 of 1999, amended by Chapter 141 of 2001, enacted the MSA model statute, which requires tobacco product manufacturers to either join MSA or deposit funds into escrow based on the number of cigarettes that they sell in Maryland. Tobacco product manufacturers not included in MSA must contribute to an escrow fund to pay a judgment or claim brought by the State or any releasing party located or residing in the State. A releasing party includes public entities and educational institutions, and persons or entities seeking relief on behalf of the general public or seeking to recover health care expenses paid or reimbursed by the State. Funds can be released early from escrow under certain circumstances. Otherwise, the escrow funds are released after 25 years. Interest or other appreciation earned on escrow payments reverts back to the tobacco product manufacturer.

The Attorney General may bring a civil action against any tobacco product manufacturer that does not place funds into an escrow account.

Chapter 348 of 2004 changed the formula for the early release of escrow funds deposited by a tobacco product manufacturer that is not participating in MSA. It specified that the escrow payments must be based on the units sold in Maryland. If those escrow payments exceed the amount the manufacturer would be required to pay as a party to MSA, any excess reverts back to the manufacturer.

Chapter 538 of 2006 included in the definition of “units sold” unstamped “roll-your-own” tobacco containers, with each 0.09 ounces of “roll-your-own” tobacco equaling one unit sold, for purposes of the model statute required under MSA.

Background: Under MSA, payments are to be made to the states through escrow accounts. Participating manufacturers are required to pay into those accounts according to a specified schedule in proportion to their market share. From those accounts, states receive an allocated share. Actual payments are subject to adjustment for various economic and technical factors. One of these adjustments is the “nonparticipating manufacturers adjustment,” which reduces payments if the market share of participating manufacturers shrinks as a result of the settlement, as determined by a consultant.

The distribution of MSA funds among states is determined by formula, with Maryland receiving 2.26% of MSA monies which are adjusted for inflation, volume, and prior settlements. In addition, the State collects 3.3% of monies from the Strategic Contribution Fund, distributed according to each state’s contribution toward resolution of the state lawsuits against the major tobacco manufacturers; this amounts to approximately $28.0 million a year. Exhibit 1 provides State Cigarette Restitution Fund revenue and expenditure detail for fiscal 2008 to 2010.
