FISCAL AND POLICY NOTE

House Bill 428
Ways and Means

(Delegate Elliott, et al.)

Property Tax - Semiannual Payment Schedule - Small Business Property

This bill requires county and municipal governments to establish a semiannual payment schedule for State, county, municipal, and special taxing district property taxes for small business property with a property tax bill of $50,000 or less.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2009 and applies to taxable years beginning after June 30, 2010.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: Potential decrease in State interest income (general fund) beginning in FY 2011 depending on the number of businesses that opt to pay property taxes on a semiannual basis. This revenue loss may be offset by service charges allowed under current law. Expenditures are not affected.

Local Effect: Interest income from property tax revenues may decrease beginning in FY 2011 depending on the number of businesses that opt to pay property taxes on a semiannual basis. This revenue loss may be offset by service charges allowed under current law.

Small Business Effect: Minimal. The overall amount of taxes paid by small business is not affected. However, in some instances, the cash flow for these businesses may benefit from paying property taxes in two installments.

Analysis

Bill Summary: Small business property is defined as property that has a commercial use code assigned by the State Department of Assessments and Taxation (SDAT) and which has total State and local property taxes of no more than $50,000 in a taxable year.

Current Law: Property taxes for owner-occupied residential property are due under a semiannual schedule. The first installment is due on July 1 and may be paid without interest on or before September 30. The second installment is due on December 1 and may be paid without interest on or before December 31. Local governments are authorized to impose a maximum service charge of 1.65% of the second payment to cover lost interest for the three-month delay in the tax collection and associated administrative fees. However, homeowners may elect to pay the full year's property tax on or before September 30 to avoid the service charge or interest.

Property taxes for property other than owner-occupied residential property are due on July 1 and may be paid without interest on or before September 30.

Background: Chapter 123 of 1995 granted taxpayers the option to pay property taxes in semiannual installments. Chapter 305 of 1999 required property owners to pay real property taxes for a principal residence in semiannual installments. However, Chapter 305 allowed homeowners the option of paying both property tax installments on or before September 30 of each year to avoid any service charge that a county may impose to recover anticipated lost interest and administrative expenses associated with the semiannual payment schedule.

State Fiscal Effect: The bill would not change the amount of property taxes paid by a qualifying small business. However, it would alter when payments may be received, which in turn effects the amount of interest earned from property tax payments. Currently property tax payments for commercial properties are due by September 30. Payments for State and local taxes are made to the county where the business is located; the county remits the State taxes to the Comptroller's Office.

The bill may result in a decrease in interest income for the time period between September 30 and December 30, as one-half of State property tax payments for certain small businesses may not be paid until three months later than under current law. However, the number of small businesses that may opt to pay on semiannual basis cannot be reliably estimated.

However, under current law, a service charge may be imposed that is reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the three-month delay, not to exceed 1.5%. Local governments may also charge a maximum of 10% of the lost interest percentage as an administrative fee. Therefore, the service charge cannot exceed 1.65%. Depending on interest rates, the service charges imposed by local governments, and the amount of tax paid on a semiannual basis, it is possible that the service charge could offset any decrease in interest income resulting from the semiannual payment schedule.

Exhibit 1 shows the number of commercial property tax accounts in each county that may be eligible for semiannual payments pursuant to the bill. The total assessment for these properties is approximately $54.1 billion.

Debt service payments on the State's general obligation bonds are paid from the Annuity Bond Fund. Revenue sources for the fund include State property taxes, premium from bond sales, and repayments from certain State agencies, subdivisions, and private organizations. General funds may be appropriated directly to the Annuity Bond Fund to make up any differences between the debt service payments and funds available from property taxes and other sources. The fiscal 2010 State budget allowance includes $785 million for general obligation debt service costs, all of which are special funds from the Annuity Bond Fund.

Local Fiscal Effect: Local property tax revenues will be affected in the same manner as State property tax revenues. Interest income on payments would be lost for the period between September 30 and December 30 for those property tax payments received in December. As discussed above, depending on interest rates, service charges imposed by local governments, and the amount of tax paid on a semiannual basis, it is possible that the service charge allowed under current law may offset any decrease in interest income resulting from the semiannual payment schedule.

Charles County estimates that a shift to a semiannual payment schedule for certain businesses could reduce revenues by approximately $40,000.
