Analysis

Current Law/Background: “Environmental justice” means equal protection from environmental and public health hazards for all people regardless of race, income, culture, and social status. CEJSC, which was established by executive order in 2001 and codified in 2003, is tasked with examining issues of environmental justice and sustainable communities for all Marylanders. To this end, CEJSC reviews and analyzes the environmental justice implications of current State policy, laws, and regulations; assesses the adequacy of State and local laws to address the issue of environmental justice and sustainable communities; coordinates with the Children's Environmental Health and Protection Advisory Council on recommendations to further environmental justice and sustainable communities; develops criteria to assess whether communities may be experiencing environmental justice issues; and recommends options to the Governor for addressing issues, concerns, or problems related to environmental justice.

MDE advises that the departments of Housing and Community Development, Transportation, and Business and Economic Development currently play a significant role in environmental justice issues, requiring involvement in many CEJSC actions. In addition, MDE advises that greater geographic diversity in representation of members appointed by the Governor is appropriate to reflect the many communities statewide affected by environmental justice issues.

State Expenditures: MDE advises that members have never sought reimbursement for travel expenses.
