10. Description and Purpose of Grantee Organization (Limit Length to Visible area)
Founded in 1990 Everyman Theatre is a nonprofit professional theatre with a resident ensemble of artists from the Baltimore/DC area dedicated to presenting high quality plays that are affordable and accessible to everyone. It annually serves 4,400 loyal subscribers, thousands of individual ticket buyers and 1,300 students from the Baltimore City Public Schools who participate in its free education program. Each year, Everyman's collaborative team puts together a diverse five-play season that includes American classics, significant works from every tradition, and fresh scripts from emerging and established playwrights. Everyman employs hundreds of local artists each season and generates an estimated $13 million in taxable revenue for the region by drawing patrons downtown to spend entertainment dollars. Everyman has been a pioneer in its current Charles Street location, thriving despite the area's once-high vacancy rate and serving as an arts anchor for the Station North Arts District and will serve to strengthen the burgeoning arts district on Baltimore's Westside neighborhood after renovation and relocation to the Town Theatre.

11. Description and Purpose of Project (Limit Length to Visible area)

The project goal is to renovate the Town Theatre as a new and permanent home for Everyman Theatre. The Town Theatre is located at 315 W. Fayette St. in Baltimore's downtown Westside around the corner from The Hippodrome on Eutaw St. Everyman's current venue on N. Charles St. has inadequate space for set building, rehearsal, costume storage, not to mention artistic restrictions due to the low ceilings and structural columns in the performance space. The present location limits opportunities for increased income potential through additional ticket sales, classes, and extensions of "hit" shows. Such limitations threaten Everyman's continued success and mission to remain accessible and affordable to the residents of Baltimore City.

The Town Theatre has been vacant for 19 years and its renovation is part of the revitalization of the Westside, in which $1 billion has been invested over the past decade. Everyman's contribution to this renaissance will include bringing more than 30,000 people to Baltimore's Westside each year, a burgeoning arts district. Everyman is developing partnerships in its new neighborhood and is already in discussions with the Hippodrome Foundation, for example, about the possibility of sharing resources for the education program.
