FISCAL AND POLICY NOTE

Senate Bill 337

(Senator Stone)

Judicial Proceedings

---

Criminal Law - Reckless Endangerment - Use of a Motor Vehicle

---

This bill limits the exclusion of conduct involving use of a motor vehicle from the crime of reckless endangerment, so that the crime applies to the use of a motor vehicle by a person (1) to avoid or attempt to avoid being detained by a law enforcement officer performing an official duty while the officer is on foot; or (2) when being pursued on foot by an individual acting in defense of a person or property. Other reckless conduct involving the use of a motor vehicle is subject to a charge of reckless driving.

---

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: Potential minimal increase in general fund revenues and expenditures due to the bill's applicable penalty provisions.

Local Effect: Potential minimal increase in revenues and expenditures due to the bill's applicable penalty provisions.

Small Business Effect: None.

Analysis

Current Law: A person may not recklessly (1) engage in conduct that creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another; however, this does not apply to conduct involving a motor vehicle or the manufacture, production, or sale of a product or commodity; or (2) discharge a firearm from a motor vehicle in a manner that creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another; however, this does not apply to a law enforcement officer or security guard performing an official duty, or an individual acting in defense of a violent crime, as specified in statute.

“Motor vehicle” means a vehicle that is self-propelled or propelled by electric power from overhead electric wires and is not operated on rails. Motor vehicle does not include a moped or motor scooter.

“Serious physical injury” means a physical injury that creates a substantial risk of death or causes permanent or protracted serious disfigurement or loss or impairment of the function of any bodily member or organ.

A person who violates the prohibition against reckless endangerment is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to imprisonment for up to five years and/or a maximum fine of $5,000.

Under the Maryland Vehicle Law, a person is guilty of reckless driving if the person drives a motor vehicle in wanton or willful disregard for the safety of persons or property, or in a manner that indicates a wanton or willful disregard for the safety of persons or property. A person who violates this provision is subject to a maximum fine of $1,000, and the Motor Vehicle Administration is required to assess six points against the driver’s license. The current prepayment penalty assessed by the District Court is $510.
