Preamble

WHEREAS, In March 2012, President Obama announced plans to create the National Network for Manufacturing Innovation to revitalize the manufacturing base in the United States by establishing up to 15 centers for manufacturing innovation throughout the country; and

WHEREAS, In March 2013, the pilot project, the National Additive Manufacturing Innovation Institute, awarded funding totaling $4,500,000 for seven applied research and development partnership projects and, in January 2014, awarded another $9,000,000 toward 15 projects that will provide $10,300,000 in matching cost share; and

WHEREAS, Legislation has been introduced in the United States Senate and House of Representatives to establish the Network for Manufacturing Innovation Program, with an appropriation of $600,000,000, for up to 45 centers that are envisioned as regional consortia of businesses, educational institutions, and government agencies that will share existing resources and work together to pilot new products and manufacturing processes, attract jobs, and encourage investment and production in the United States; and

WHEREAS, Manufacturing plays a vital role in the economy and has a strong multiplier effect, with each manufacturing job estimated to create nearly three additional jobs in other sectors; and

WHEREAS, Additive manufacturing processes, including 3D printing, are already used in a variety of industries and have the potential for use in unlimited additional areas, including defense contracting, biomedical research and patient care, apparel design, and pharmaceutical production; and

WHEREAS, The northeastern region of Maryland has significant additive manufacturing technical expertise and infrastructure, including an additive manufacturing facility at Aberdeen Proving Ground, known as the Rapid Technologies and Inspection Branch, which has been used to design, build, test, and advance new technologies quickly, as well as for training students in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) fields; and

WHEREAS, The northeastern region of the State has leading educational institutions at all levels, including Towson University, Harford Community College, Cecil College, and the Cecil County and Harford County public school systems; and

WHEREAS, There is a need to improve the accessibility of and connections between the existing infrastructure, expertise, and educational resources in the region for entrepreneurs, innovators, and small businesses in the developing and growing area of additive manufacturing; now, therefore,
