Analysis

Current Law/Background: State election law governs State, county, and Baltimore City elections held during statewide elections every two years, but generally does not govern municipal elections other than those in Baltimore City (which is considered a "county" for purposes of State law). Most State- and county-level offices are voted on during the gubernatorial elections, with a smaller number of offices, including Baltimore City offices (beginning in 2016), voted on during the presidential election. Elections for offices in municipalities other than Baltimore City are held at various times during the year with varying frequency.

Under State election law, “write-in candidate” is defined as an individual whose name will not appear on the ballot but who timely files a certificate of candidacy. “Write-in vote” means a vote cast, in a contest at a general election, for an individual whose name is not on the ballot for that contest. A voter may not cast a write-in vote in a primary election but may write in a name for any office in any general election or special general election. An individual who seeks election as a write-in candidate must file a certificate of candidacy by the earlier of 5 p.m. on the seventh day before the start of early voting for which the certificate is filed or 7 days after a total expenditure of at least $51 is made to promote the candidacy by a campaign finance entity of the candidate.
