Property Tax - Homeowners' Property Tax Credit - Definition of Gross Income

This bill alters the definition of gross income for purposes of qualifying for the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program.

The bill takes effect June 1, 2017, and applies to taxable years beginning after June 30, 2017.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: General fund expenditures for additional personnel at the State Department of Assessments and Taxation (SDAT) increase by $131,200 in FY 2018 and by $187,300 in FY 2022. Future years reflect annualization and ongoing operating costs. General fund expenditures for the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program increase by a potentially significant amount beginning in FY 2018. The amount of the increase depends on the number of homeowners who become eligible for the program as a result of the new definition of gross income. Under one set of assumptions, expenditures may increase by $3.0 million in FY 2018.

Local Effect: Local governments that have a homeowners' property tax credit supplement could realize a reduction in expenditures for their programs as a result of the increased State credit. Local revenues are not affected.

Small Business Effect: None.

Analysis

Bill Summary: Gross income is defined as the lesser of (1) Maryland adjusted gross income as calculated in accordance with Title 10, Subtitle 2 of the Tax-General Article, including the value of any income received during periods of nonresidence not otherwise subject to the State income tax or (2) the sum of the following amounts for the calendar year that immediately precedes the taxable year: wages; net dividends and interest; any benefit under the Social Security Act or the Railroad Retirement Act; alimony; support money; net taxable income from a pension less specified subtractions; taxable earnings withdrawn from an annuity; unemployment insurance benefits; capital gains or losses; the net income received from a business, rental, or other endeavor; taxable earnings withdrawn from an individual retirement account; taxable earnings withdrawn from any qualified retirement savings plan; any rent on the dwelling, including the rent from a room or apartment; and other subtractions to income including the value of any income received during periods of nonresidence not subject to the State income tax. Gross income does not include any income tax refund received from the State or federal government.

Current Law: Gross income is defined as the total income from all sources for the calendar year that immediately precedes the taxable year, whether or not the income is included in the definition of gross income for federal or State tax purposes. Gross income includes: any benefit under the Social Security Act or the Railroad Retirement Act; the aggregate of gifts over $300; alimony; support money; any nontaxable strike benefit; public assistance received in a cash grant; a pension; an annuity; any unemployment insurance benefit; any workers' compensation benefit; the net income received from a business, rental, or other endeavor; any withdrawal, payment, or distribution from an individual retirement account; any withdrawal, payment, or distribution from any qualified retirement savings plan; and any rent on the dwelling, including the rent from a room or apartment. Gross income does not include any income tax refund received from the State or federal government or any loss from business, rental, or other endeavor.

The maximum assessment against which the homeowners' property tax credit may be granted is $300,000. To be eligible for the tax credit, a homeowner's combined net worth may not exceed $200,000, and combined income may not exceed $60,000. The percentages applied to the combined income that are used to calculate the amount of the property tax credit are (1) 0% of the first $8,000 of combined income; (2) 4% of the next $4,000 of combined income; (3) 6.5% of the next $4,000 of combined income; and (4) 9% of the combined income over $16,000.

Background: The Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program is a State-funded program that provides credits against State and local real property taxation for homeowners who qualify based on a sliding scale of property tax liability and income. The fiscal 2018 State budget includes $60.0 million in funding for the program. Approximately 50,000 individuals are expected to benefit from the program in fiscal 2018. Appendix – Homeowners’ Property Tax Credit Program provides a brief description of the program and recent legislative changes.

State Fiscal Effect: SDAT advises that altering the definition of gross income will likely lead to a significant increase in the number of applications for the homeowners’ property tax credit. As a result, SDAT will need to hire three office services clerks to review and process the additional applications at a cost of $131,200 in fiscal 2018, which accounts for a 90-day start-up delay. This estimate includes salaries, fringe benefits, one-time start-up costs, and ongoing operating expenses. Future year expenditures increase by $187,300 in fiscal 2022, which reflects full salaries with annual increases and employee turnover and ongoing operating expenses.

In addition, to the extent that the new definition of gross income increases the number of eligible tax credit recipients, general fund expenditures for the Homeowners’ Property Tax Credit Program will increase by a potentially significant amount beginning in fiscal 2018. The amount of the increase depends on the number of homeowners who become eligible for the program as a result of the new definition of gross income. The number of homeowners who may become eligible for the program cannot be reliably estimated at this time; however, SDAT indicates that the adjustments to the definition will lead to a significant increase in the number of tax applications filed, eligible applicants, and tax credits issued. For illustrative purposes only, general fund expenditures would increase by approximately $3.0 million if program recipients increase by 5% and by $6.0 million if program recipients increase by 10%.

Chapter 27 of 2006 made several significant changes to the Homeowners’ Property Tax Credit Program: the maximum assessment against which the credit may be granted was increased to $300,000 from $150,000; and the percentages used to determine the amount of the tax credit were altered.

Chapter 588 of 2005 altered the calculation of total real property tax for the Homeowners’ Property Tax Credit Program by subtracting the homestead tax credit amount from the total assessment rather than the maximum assessment specified under the credit. Chapter 588 also specified additional eligibility criteria for the local supplement to the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program by authorizing a local jurisdiction to alter the $200,000 limitation on a homeowner's net worth for eligibility for a local supplement to the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program.

Since fiscal 1992, the counties and Baltimore City have been authorized to grant a local supplement to the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program. SDAT administers a local supplement granted by a county, but the cost of a local supplement is borne by the local government. For purposes of the local supplement, the counties are authorized to alter the maximum on the assessed value taken into account in calculating the credit, as well as the percentages and income levels specified in the tax limit formula. The counties are also authorized to impose limitations on eligibility for a local supplement in addition to the requirements specified for the State credit. Baltimore City and thirteen counties – Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, and Washington – have a local homeowners' property tax credit supplement program that is administered by SDAT. Data collected by the Department of Legislative Services in 2016 indicates that these jurisdictions granted approximately 19,600 homeowners approximately $8.1 million in local property tax credits in fiscal 2016, as shown in Exhibit 2.

Municipalities are also authorized to provide a supplement to the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program. Under the enabling authority for municipalities, a municipal supplement is limited to 50% of the State credit.

Chapter 444 of 2006 altered the calculation and eligibility criteria of the municipal supplement to make it consistent with the current calculation and eligibility criteria authorized under the county supplement program. Chapter 444 also altered the amount of a supplemental municipal credit that may be granted by repealing the limitation that a municipal supplement may not exceed 50% of the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit. SDAT administers municipal homeowners' property tax credit supplement programs in the cities of Gaithersburg, Rockville, Bowie, College Park, Greenbelt, Hyattsville, and Mount Rainier.
