Analysis

Current Law: The Washington County Board of County Commissioners must establish an Advisory School Design Review Committee to review all construction plans for school capital improvement projects that exceed $2.0 million and ensure that each project provides an effective educational environment in a cost-efficient manner. The committee must begin its duties at the schematic design phase for each capital improvement project and conclude its review at the bidding document stage, as defined by law.

Before advertisement for competitive bids, the county commissioners and the Washington County Board of Education must jointly review the committee's recommendations. The county commissioners are responsible for determining whether a capital improvement project may proceed to the bidding document stage and are not bound by the committee's recommendations.
