State Employees - Collective Bargaining - Applicability, Bargaining Processes, and Memorandums of Understanding

This bill requires the Chancellor of the University System of Maryland (USM) to act on behalf of USM and its constituent institutions, rather than the institutions' presidents under current law, for the purposes of collective bargaining. An exclusive representative that represents more than one bargaining unit of USM employees may request to bargain a consolidated memorandum of understanding (MOU), as specified. However, specified matters must be negotiated at an institutional level by the president or their designee. For a matter that is not specified and is particular to an institution, the matter also must be negotiated by the president or their designee. If the parties cannot agree, the matter must be negotiated as part of the consolidated MOU. Finally, the bill changes the collective bargaining process for State employees and employees of public four-year institutions and Baltimore City Community College (BCCC) by specifying that good faith requirements include facilitating the meaningful use of a fact finder. The bill takes effect June 1, 2021.

Analysis

Bill Summary:

University System of Maryland – Collective Bargaining

As under current law, each USM institution must continue to have its own bargaining units. However, the bill repeals current law allowing constituent institution presidents to agree to enter into and terminate cooperation agreements for the purpose of collective bargaining.

If an exclusive representative represents more than one bargaining unit of USM employees and requests to bargain a consolidated MOU, the Chancellor and the exclusive representative must negotiate the terms of one consolidated MOU to apply to all bargaining units for employees of all USM institutions represented by that exclusive representative that includes terms related to specified topics, including wages and salaries. Different specified topics, including hours of work, must be negotiated between a USM president (or their designee) and the exclusive representative in separate agreements. The consolidated MOU may not include terms relating to the matters that must be included in the separate agreements. For a matter particular to a USM institution that is not otherwise specified, the matter must be negotiated, on mutual agreement and in writing, by the exclusive representative and the president of that institution or the president's designee. If the parties cannot mutually agree, the matter must be negotiated as part of the consolidated MOU. On conclusion of negotiations, all matters of agreement must be included in the consolidated MOU.

Subject to the requirements of current law, the effective date of a consolidated MOU must be July 1 to align with the fiscal year of USM and must continue in effect until a subsequent June 30. Specifically under current law, the MOU may not expire until it is succeeded by an MOU that is agreed to and ratified.

Further, the bill establishes that all terms of a presently existing MOU, as specified, may not be impaired in any way by the bill and must remain in full force and effect until a successor MOU is agreed to and ratified.

Current Law: The Board of Regents of USM must appoint a Chancellor of USM. The Chancellor is the Chief Executive Officer of USM and the Chief of Staff for the Board of Regents of USM. The Chancellor must (1) advise the Board of Regents of USM; (2) conduct systemwide planning; (3) coordinate and arbitrate among the institutions and centers of USM; (4) assist the institutions in achieving performance goals in accordance with their adopted performance accountability plan; (5) provide technical assistance to institutions and centers such as legal and financial services; (6) perform the duties the board assigns; and (7) see that the policies of the board are carried out. The Chancellor serves at the pleasure of the board. The Chancellor is entitled to the compensation established by the board. However, until June 30, 2021, the board must notify the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House at least 30 days before a contractual salary increase, negotiated severance package, or any other financial bonus for the Chancellor goes into effect.

The president of a USM institution must act on behalf of the institution for the purposes of collective bargaining. Likewise, the presidents of the following centers or institutes bargain on behalf of their center or institute:

- University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science;
- Cooperative Extension Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station;
- Statewide Medical Education and Training System;
- Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute;
- Center for Maryland Advanced Ventures;
- University of Maryland Center for Economic and Entrepreneurship Development;
- and
- any other center, component, or institute established and operated by USM in accordance with its mission.

The exclusive representative must designate one or more representatives to participate as a party in collective bargaining on behalf of the exclusive representative.

An MOU that incorporates all matters of agreement reached by the parties must be executed by the exclusive representative and the president of the USM institution or the president's designee. To the extent these matters require legislative approval or the appropriation of funds, the matters must be recommended to the General Assembly for approval or for the appropriation of funds. To the extent matters involving a State institution of higher education require legislative approval, the legislation must be recommended to the Governor for submission to the General Assembly. For skilled service or professional service employees who are employees of an institution, the terms of an MOU executed by the president and the exclusive representative apply.

An MOU must contain all matters of agreement reached in the collective bargaining process. The MOU must be in writing and signed by the exclusive representative involved in the collective bargaining negotiations and the president of the system institution or the president's designee.

No MOU is valid if it extends for less than one year or for more than three years. In the case of a State institution of higher education, an MOU is not effective until it is ratified by the institution's governing board and a majority of the votes cast by the employees in the bargaining unit. All terms of an MOU must continue in force and effect without change until a successor MOU is agreed to and ratified.

The presidents of USM institutions may agree to cooperate for the purpose of collective bargaining. A president may elect to terminate a cooperation agreement with another USM institution.

Appropriate bargaining units must consist of (1) all eligible nonexempt employees, as described in the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, except eligible sworn police officers; (2) all eligible exempt employees, as described in the federal Fair Labor Standards Act; and (3) all eligible sworn police officers.

State and Higher Education – Collective Bargaining

The Secretary of Budget and Management defines, through regulations, which State and higher education employees are eligible for collective bargaining. In regards to collective bargaining for specified State or higher education employees, the parties must meet at reasonable times and engage in collective bargaining in good faith to conclude a written MOU or other written understanding.

State Fiscal Effect: The bill does not materially affect total State expenditures, but it does affect operations and potentially finances at the constituent institutions. As the bill consolidates most collective bargaining duties from the USM constituent institution presidents with the Chancellor, it increases the time spent on collective bargaining by the Chancellor and the USM Office while likely decreasing the time spent on collective bargaining by the constituent institutions, although specified matters including hours of work must continue to be negotiated at the institutional level. In addition, USM institutions report various operational and potential fiscal impacts of coalition bargaining (which must be undertaken under specified circumstances), including issues specific to a particular institution. Overall, however, to the extent collective bargaining agreements negotiated under the bill are similar to those negotiated under current law, there is no material effect on total expenditures for USM.
