The main Youth and Family Services building is 29 years old. Staff have discussed various ways that the grounds could be improved to provide quiet space for clients and a more attractive space for everyone. In January 2024 the City contracted with Nature Sacred in Annapolis to design concept plans for seating areas, a meditative garden, and / or other features for clients and the public. The design meetings kicked off in May 2024 and final design plans will be available in April 2025. The City requests funding to assist with the construction of the project once the design is complete this spring. The cost estimate is approximate and could change based on the selection of the final design.
