Real Property - Unlawfully Restrictive Covenant Modifications - County or Municipality Notice Requirements

This bill alters a statutory provision in regard to the notice that a local government must provide when it intends to execute and record a restrictive covenant modification to an unlawfully restrictive covenant. In addition to repealing the requirement for the notice to be sent by first class mail, the bill requires notice to be (1) published once per week for four successive weeks in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the county or municipality where the property is located and (2) posted on the official website of the county or municipality where the property is located.

Analysis

Current Law: Generally, an unlawfully restrictive covenant is any recorded covenant or restriction that restricts ownership based on race, religious belief, or national origin.

A county or municipality may execute and record a restrictive covenant modification to an unlawfully restrictive covenant if the subject property is within the boundaries of the county or municipality and specific notice requirements are satisfied. In addition to other requirements, the notice must (1) be sent by first-class mail and (2) provide information on how a person with an ownership interest in the property may decline to have the restrictive covenant modification executed and recorded by the county or municipality.

A person with an ownership interest in the property may decline to have the modification executed and recorded by notifying the county or municipality within 30 days after the date of the required notice.
