House Bill 362
Judiciary

(Delegate Grammer)

Criminal Procedure - Expungement - Effect

This bill establishes that a person granted an expungement under Title 10, Subtitle 1 of the Criminal Procedure Article must be determined for all purposes not to have been arrested for, cited for, charged with, or convicted of the underlying offense.

Fiscal Summary

State Effect: The bill is not anticipated to materially affect State finances. However, the bill may have an operational impact on recruitment procedures for the Department of State Police (DSP) and possibly the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services (DPSCS), as discussed below.

Local Effect: The bill is not anticipated to materially affect local government finances. However, the bill may have an operational effect on local law enforcement, as discussed below.

Small Business Effect: Minimal.

Analysis

Current Law:

Expungements

Other than specified court-initiated expungements under § 10-105.1 of the Criminal Procedure Article, to begin the process of expungement, a petitioner must file a petition for expungement with the court under § 10-105 or § 10-110 of the Criminal Procedure Article, which establishes eligibility for the expungement of records pertaining to a criminal charge or conviction. With some exceptions, § 10-105 applies to dispositions other than a conviction, and § 10-110 applies to expungements of convictions.

Expungement of a court or police record means removal from public inspection:

- by obliteration;
- by removal to a separate secure area to which persons who do not have a legitimate reason for access are denied access; or
- if access to a court record or police record can be obtained only by reference to another such record, by the expungement of that record, or the part of it that provides access.

Units of Charges

Pursuant to § 10-107 of the Criminal Procedure Article, if two or more charges, other than one for a minor traffic violation or possession of cannabis under § 5-601 of the Criminal Law Article, arise from the same incident, transaction, or set of facts, they are considered to be a unit. A charge for a minor traffic violation or possession of cannabis under § 5-601 of the Criminal Law Article that arises from the same incident, transaction, or set of facts as a charge in the unit is not a part of the unit. If a person is not entitled to expungement of one charge or conviction in a unit, the person is not entitled to expungement of any other charge or conviction in the unit. This “unit rule” applies to expungements under Title 10, Subtitle 1 of the Criminal Procedure Article.

Section 10-105 of the Criminal Procedure Article

Under § 10-105 of the Criminal Procedure Article, a person who has been charged with the commission of a crime for which a term of imprisonment may be imposed or who has been charged with a civil offense or infraction, except a juvenile offense, may file a petition for expungement of a police record, court record, or other record maintained by the State or a political subdivision of the State, under various circumstances listed in the statute. With specified exceptions, these grounds include acquittal, dismissal of charges, entry of probation before judgment, entry of nolle prosequi, stet of charge, and gubernatorial pardon. Individuals convicted of a crime that is no longer a crime, convicted of possession of cannabis under § 5-601 of the Criminal Law Article, convicted of or found not criminally responsible for specified public nuisance crimes or specified misdemeanors, or who had a conviction vacated due to being a victim of human trafficking (as defined in statute), are also eligible for expungement of the associated criminal records under certain circumstances.

Unless the State’s Attorney files an objection to the petition for expungement within 30 days after the petition is served, the court must pass an order requiring the expungement of all police records and court records about the charge. If the State’s Attorney files a timely objection to the petition, the court must hold a hearing. If the court at the hearing finds that the person is entitled to expungement, the court must order the expungement of all police records and court records about the charge.

In determining whether the person is entitled to expungement, the court must consider, to the extent applicable (1) the person's success at probation, parole, or mandatory supervision and (2) whether the person has paid any monetary restitution ordered by the court in the original proceeding or does not have the ability to pay the restitution.

If the court finds that the person is not entitled to expungement, the court must deny the petition. A person is not entitled to expungement if (1) subject to a specified exception, the petition is based on the entry of probation before judgment and the person, within three years of the entry of the probation before judgment, has been convicted of a crime other than a minor traffic violation or a crime where the act on which the conviction is based is no longer a crime or (2) the person is a defendant in a pending criminal proceeding.

Except for court initiated expungements under § 10-105.1 and unless an order is stayed pending an appeal, within 60 days after entry of the order, every custodian of the police records and court records that are subject to the order of expungement must advise in writing the court and the person who is seeking expungement of compliance with the order.

Section 10-110 of the Criminal Procedure Article

Section 10-110 of the Criminal Procedure Article authorizes an individual convicted of any of a list of approximately 100 specified offenses or an attempt, a conspiracy, or a solicitation of any of these offenses, to file a petition for expungement of the conviction, subject to specified procedures and requirements. An itemized list of convictions eligible for expungement under § 10-110 is shown in the Appendix – Convictions Eligible for Expungement.

Petitions for expungements under § 10-110 are subject to the waiting periods listed below. These waiting periods begin after the sentence has expired, including parole, probation, or mandatory supervision:

- Misdemeanor (general): 5 years;
- Felony (general), Second-degree Assault, or Common Law Battery: 7 years;
- Domestically Related Crime (§ 6-233 of the Criminal Procedure Article): 15 years;
- Possession with Intent to Distribute Cannabis: 3 years; and
- Burglary in the First Degree (Breaking and Entering – Theft), Burglary in the Second Degree, or Felony General Theft: 10 years.

If the person is convicted of a new crime during the applicable waiting period, the original conviction or convictions are not eligible for expungement unless the new conviction becomes eligible for expungement.

A person is not eligible for expungement if the person is a defendant in a pending criminal proceeding.

Unless the State's Attorney or a victim files an objection to the petition for expungement within 30 days after the petition is served, the court must pass an order requiring the expungement of all police records and court records about the charge.

If the State's Attorney or a victim files a timely objection to the petition, the court must hold a hearing. The court must order the expungement of all police records and court records about the charge after a hearing, if the court finds and states on the record:

- that the conviction is eligible for expungement under specified provisions of § 10-110;
- that giving due regard to the nature of the crime, the history and character of the person, and the person's success at probation, parole, or mandatory supervision, the person is not a risk to public safety;
- that the person has paid any monetary restitution ordered by the court in the original proceeding or does not have the ability to pay the restitution; and
- that an expungement would be in the interest of justice.

If at a hearing the court finds that a person is not entitled to expungement, the court must deny the petition.

Unless an order is stayed pending appeal, within 60 days after entry of the order, every custodian of the police records and court records that are subject to the order of expungement must advise in writing the court and the person who is seeking expungement of compliance with the order.

Automatic Expungements – § 10-105.1 of the Criminal Procedure Article

Pursuant to Chapter 680 of 2021, beginning October 1, 2021, any police record, court record, or other record maintained by the State or a political subdivision of the State relating to the charging of a civil offense under § 5-601(c)(2)(ii) (related to possession of cannabis) of the Criminal Law Article or a crime other than a violation of the Transportation Article for which the defendant is not required to appear, must be expunged three years after a disposition of the charge if no charge in the case resulted in a disposition other than acquittal; dismissal; not guilty; or nolle prosequi, other than nolle prosequi with a requirement of drug or alcohol treatment.

State Fiscal Effect: The bill is not expected to materially affect State finances. However, DSP advises that the bill may have an operational effect on DSP recruitment practices. According to DSP, a record that has been expunged may not be used against an applicant for employment. However, candidates for trooper positions go through an extensive integrity evaluation, including a polygraph. Candidates are asked several questions during this process, including if they have ever been arrested. If a candidate answers that question in the negative because of the language of the bill but DSP finds out through other means (e.g., interviews with neighbors) that the candidate had been arrested, then it may present an integrity issue.

Information is not readily available as to whether recruitment procedures for correctional officers include similar questions. Should that be the case, the bill may affect operations for DPSCS. Additionally, the Criminal Justice Information System within DPSCS advises that federal law requires reporting of arrests for security clearances or visa applications. If the bill prevents that reporting, Maryland may fall out of compliance with the FBI's compact, which could threaten Maryland's access to the federal criminal database.

Local Fiscal Effect: The bill is not expected to materially affect local finances. However, if local police departments or local jails face the recruitment issues discussed above, then the bill may have an operational impact on those entities. The bill may also have an operational impact on local law enforcement if, depending on interpretation, the bill prevents a law enforcement agency that retrieves an expunged record through court order from being able to consider the expunged charges and dispositions.
