SENATE JUDICIAL AND EDUCATION, HEALTH, AND ENVIRONMENTAL AFFAIRS COMMITTEES

SENATE BILL 903

Immigration Enforcement—Public Schools, Hospitals, and Courthouses—Policies

February 26, 2020

POSITION: SUPPORT

The Education Advocacy Coalition for Students with Disabilities (EAC), a coalition of more than 25 organizations and individuals concerned with education policy for students with disabilities in Maryland, supports Senate Bill 903, which would require the Attorney General, in consultation with appropriate stakeholders, to develop guidelines to assist public schools, hospitals and courthouses to draft policies that would limit immigration enforcement activities on their premises to ensure that these facilities remain safe and accessible to all, regardless of immigration status.

In 1972, the United States Supreme Court ruled that all children, regardless of immigration status, have the right to public education. Plyler v. Doe, 457 U.S. 202. Similarly, the federal Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA), 20 U.S.C. §1400 et. seq. guarantees a free appropriate public education to all children with disabilities who need special education and related services in order to make educational progress. The IDEA stresses the importance of schools and parents working together to properly identify the needs of children with disabilities and to ensure that appropriate and effective instructional services and supports are provided by the school. The IDEA and Maryland law contain provisions about including parents at meetings, and these laws also require translation of documents and provision of interpreters at IEP meetings if necessary; ensuring that parents have the opportunity to be active participants in the IEP process is one of the cornerstones of both federal and state law.

However, schools are hampered in their effort to secure parental participation, and children suffer the consequences, if their parents do not come to school to participate in the special education process and work with school staff to help their children succeed because of their fear of arrest by Immigration and Customs Enforcement officials on school grounds.

School should be a refuge for all children; it should be the place where they come to grow and learn academically, developmentally and socially. This is especially true for children with disabilities, whose parents have the right to help shape the special education they receive and to participate as full members of the IEP team. Children and parents should not live in fear that the simple act of going to school every day might result in the trauma of arrest and separation simply because of how they arrived in the United States. For these reasons, the Education Advocacy Coalition supports Senate Bill 903.
