The Maryland Nurses Association (MNA) supports Senate Bill 84 – Pharmacists – Administration of Self-Administered Medications and Maintenance Injectable Medications. The bill authorizes pharmacists to administer maintenance injectable medications upon a prescription by a prescriber. The prescriber would have to administer the first dose of medication unless the prescriber authorizes the pharmacist to do so in writing.

MNA supports this legislation because we agree that pharmacists have the education and training to administer maintenance injectable medications. The bill has appropriate consumer safe-guards, including requiring the prescriber to administer the first dose in case the patient has an adverse reaction. The bill also requires communication between the pharmacist and prescriber.

MNA recognizes that there are sometimes gaps in care. Prescribers, particularly small providers, may not have the staff or infrastructure to routinely administer injectable medications. Consumers may delay care in their search for a provider to administer their medication. Pharmacists, as they have the appropriate training, can help fill that gap in care.
