

TESTIMONY IN SUPPORT OF HOUSE BILL 0200

TO: HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE
SUBMITTED BY: MOLLY VOIGT, STATE LEGISLATIVE MANAGER
DATE: FEBRUARY 25, 2021

Chair Clippinger, Vice Chair Atterbeary, and Members of the House Judiciary Committee: thank you for the opportunity to provide this testimony on behalf of Giffords, the gun violence prevention organization founded by former Congresswoman Gabby Giffords. I am writing in support of Jaelynn's Law, House Bill 0200, which will strengthen the state's law against providing a minor with unsupervised access to firearms. It will do this in several ways: by lifting the relevant age from 16 to 18 years old; by extending the law to both loaded and unloaded guns; by properly focusing the law's language on the issue of access; and by creating graduated penalties for better compliance. Each of these changes is an important step that will make Maryland safer.

This bill addresses a central responsibility of gun ownership: the duty to ensure that guns remain out of the hands of minors. Current Maryland law is unclear about the parameters of this responsibility. This bill will specify that gun owners have a responsibility to properly store their weapons whenever a child could gain access to the firearm.

Improperly secured guns in homes pose a clear risk, and too often result in tragic shootings, including unintentional discharges and suicides, that are all too common in America today. The best estimate is that 4.6 million minors in the US live in homes with at least one loaded, unlocked firearm.¹ And while many gun owners believe that their children do not know where their guns are stored, this is often a false sense of security. More than a third of parents wrongly believe their children do not know where a gun is stored, according to researchers who asked both parents and their children about guns in the home.²

This bill addresses the variety of scenarios by establishing a clear and straightforward standard: gun owners must ensure that no minor can gain access to their firearms.

A clear and enforceable law on this topic will make a difference. Estimates suggest that modest increases in the number of American homes safely storing firearms could prevent almost a third of youth gun deaths due to suicide and unintentional firearm injury.³ Tellingly, numerous studies over the past 20 years have found that child access prevention laws can reduce suicide and unintentional gun deaths and injuries among children and teens by up to 54%.⁴ Through this bill, Maryland will join those states that have the strongest laws on this topic.

Unsecured guns threaten teenagers because they are a major source of weapons used in youth suicides and school shootings. The Wall Street Journal found that a gun from the home was used in 17 of 20 school shootings involving at least three victims since 1990. Preventing underage gun access can often prevent these horrific events. According to the National Institute of Mental Health, the human brain doesn't finish developing and maturing until the mid- to late-20s. The part of the brain that is responsible for planning, prioritizing and controlling impulses, is one of the last brain regions to mature. For this reason, teenagers should not have unsupervised access to guns.

Minors who live in homes with improperly secured firearms are substantially more likely to die by suicide. Guns are used in less than 1% of minors' suicide attempts, but account for over 40% of minors' suicide deaths. Unsupervised gun access is therefore a major factor driving our nation's intolerably high rates of youth suicide: suicide is the second leading cause of death among children aged 10–14 and among young people aged 15–24.⁵ In states where minors are more likely to use guns in suicides, minors are also much more likely to die by suicide. Laws that make it harder for minors to access unsecured guns and ammunition help to prevent these tragedies.

A teenager bent on suicide or an atrocity may be determined to get a gun. The Internet provides teenagers with many videos and instructions on loading guns, so it is far too easy, once a teenager has access to a gun, for it to become loaded. That's why this bill will extend the obligation to keep loaded guns away from children and teenagers to unloaded guns. Improperly secured guns, whether they are loaded or unloaded, put kids at risk.

Thank you for this opportunity to support this important proposal to strengthen Maryland's gun laws. I urge a favorable report on HB 0200.
