The Maryland State Education Association respectfully opposes House Bill 569, which would siphon off public school funding into newly established Education Savings Accounts to pay for private school education.

MSEA represents 75,000 educators and school employees who work in Maryland's public schools, teaching and preparing our almost 900,000 students so they can pursue their dreams. MSEA also represents 39 local affiliates in every county across the state of Maryland, and our parent affiliate is the 3 million-member National Education Association (NEA).

House Bill 569 allows for the creation of Education Savings Accounts for families to pay nonpublic school tuition. This bill takes away funding from our public schools and puts them in personalized savings accounts that families can use at nonpublic "qualified schools."

This bill is very similar to the American Legislative Exchange Council's (ALEC) Education Savings Account Act model legislation¹, which has been introduced in many states across the country. The National Education Association² says it best: "No matter how you look at it, vouchers undermine strong public education and student opportunity. They take scarce funding from public schools—which serve 90 percent of students—and give it to private schools—institutions that are not accountable to taxpayers. This means public school students have less access to music instruments and science equipment, modern technology and textbooks, and after-school programs."

MSEA urges an unfavorable report on House Bill 569.
