

Per Maryland's own Covid-19 dash board since January 2022 the majority of those hospitalized are those that are considered by Maryland standards as fully vaccinated. For example the last stats available from the dashboard is from December 2022, 72.84% of those hospitalized were considered fully vaccinated. On top of this abysmal data, the latest Lancet studies have shown natural immunity to be superior and durable compared to the primary vaccination + multiple boosters.
