RE: SB 5 Hate Crimes – Civil Remedy (Support)

The Attorney General urges the Judicial Proceedings Committee to favorably report SB 5, Senator Kramer's legislation creating a civil cause of action for victims of hate crimes to seek redress from anyone who committed a hate crime against them. The legislation further provides for injunctive relief and economic and noneconomic damages, and reasonable attorneys' fees. In Section 10-309(d) of the bill, the legislation caps economic and noneconomic damages at three times the amount of actual damages. Importantly, if enacted, SB 5 would not undermine or supersede "any legal or equitable remedy otherwise provided by law."<sup>1</sup>

Adherents to extremist ideologies are on the rise, as are their hate-motivated crimes. "White nationalist hate groups rose fifty-five percent under the Trump administration."<sup>2</sup> Further, "FBI statistics . . . reveal that hate crimes jumped twenty percent during this time, with the vast majority committed by white supremacists."<sup>3</sup> In the face of these dire facts, it is important that victims of hate crimes not only have recourse to our criminal justice system, but that they may be made whole by holding the perpetrators of hate crimes accountable through civil remedies that include damages for pain and suffering. Moreover, the provision permitting reasonable attorneys'
