

Dear Members of the House Judiciary Committee,

I am a resident of District 8. I am testifying against Senate Bill 40. This testimony is being submitted by Showing Up for Racial Justice Baltimore, a group of individuals working to move white folks as part of a multi-racial movement for equity and racial justice in Baltimore City, Baltimore County, and Howard County. We are working in collaboration with the Campaign for Justice Safety and Jobs (CJSJ), the Maryland Coalition for Justice and Police Accountability (MCJPA), and the Baltimore County Coalition for Police Accountability (BCCPA).

While the stated intent of Senate Bill 40 is to prevent the release of sensitive footage that could be used to identify victims, as currently written the bill is overly broad in the footage that it restricts. It also restricts release of recordings related to any incident that “does not result in: (1) the arrest, attempted arrest, temporary detention, search, attempted search, citation, death or injury of an individual; (2) the use of force against an individual; or (3) a complaint or allegation of officer misconduct”.

It is our position that the Maryland Public Information Act (MPIA) currently provides protection for victims through provisions that entitle custodians of body-worn footage to prevent the release of recordings that may reveal sources, endanger individuals, or result in a violation of privacy. Furthermore, custodians of footage are able to redact parts of recordings in order to protect the identity of victims and sources. For these reasons, new legislation that broadly and wholly restricts the release of footage is unnecessary.

Body-worn cameras have been adopted across the US to increase transparency and accountability of the law enforcement to the public. Anton’s Law, passed as part of the police reform package of 2021, has been another tool to this end, allowing access to police misconduct complaints and discipline records through the MPIA. These are important steps to increase information about police/resident interactions and should be continued. We cannot risk undermining Anton’s Law or our ongoing work to reform policing when the safety of our friends and neighbors are at stake. It is for these reasons that I am encouraging you to vote against Senate Bill 40.

Thank you for your time, service, and consideration.

Sincerely,

Arielle Juberg
