In 2020, I knocked on doors for a Baltimore City Council candidate. We found that many residents, especially older people, do not check state websites or the news before heading out to vote. They simply go to the same place they've voted for decades. Many were unaware their regular polling places were closed due to COVID-19. Many do not have, or are unable to use, technology that would inform them of any new ID requirements. If this law is enacted, I think confusion would reign, forcing many legitimate voters to cast provisional ballots. Once that happens, I am gravely concerned that all those provisional ballots will later be misattributed to evidence of mass voter fraud.

Voter ID laws deprive many Americans of the right to vote, and have disparate impact on poor voters, disabled voters, and minorities.¹ Voter ID laws have unfortunately become barriers to democracy that harm vulnerable classes of people. Many poorer voters do not have the resources to obtain identification; even though the ID itself is free, it requires time and money to go to a place where IDs are issued. Even though the proposed law would accept many forms of ID, it would still present a barrier to some people. For example, not everyone has a utility bill or bank account in their name. They may live in a household where someone else manages the finances.

The good news is our elections are already secure. Maryland has very few known cases of voter fraud.^{2 3} One website found less than one instance of voter fraud per year in Maryland.⁴

This bill would greatly harm voting rights in Maryland, and would not make our elections any more secure than they already are. I respectfully urge the committee to oppose it.
