

HB 069

I have a BS and a MA in counseling. I've worked with children and families as a licensed professional counselor.

I oppose HB 069. Obviously, violent or disruptive behavior of a child is a parents ultimate responsibility. Intervention with the family at the local level within the school system is the best avenue to bring the student into compliance with school rules. Mandated counseling at the state level takes away control from local authorities and the family.
