SB 370 – Community Schools - Rental Assistance for Community School Families Program and Fund - Establishment

Hearing of the Appropriations Committee on March 26, 2024

Position: Favorable

Baltimore City Youth Action Board urges you to support SB 370, which will create an eviction prevention funds program for families with children enrolled in Maryland’s community schools.

The Baltimore City Youth Action Board (“YAB”), feels SB 370 would directly address youth homelessness overall within the entirety of the state. Oftentimes the YAB comes across youth who are experiencing homelessness but are not quite old enough to access resources such as housing. This is a barrier that needs to be addressed and SB 370 addresses that with a direct approach. SB 370 will not only help protect housing but also ensures that the youth will stay present and productive in school giving them opportunity for an equitable education.

The Blueprint for Maryland’s Future is investing significant funds to assist families whose children are attending community schools. Located throughout Maryland, Community Schools provide support for families by coordinating wraparound services like transportation, healthcare, counseling, and healthy food. Without an investment in eviction prevention funds, students in community schools who are evicted will lose ready access to the support of their community school.

Recent research is clear that preventing evictions stabilizes the family, the school, and the community. Students facing eviction are 6 times more likely to be chronically absent and 4 times more likely to not complete high school,¹ and students who have experienced housing insecurity were more likely to have a lower GPA as well as poorer mental health outcomes.² The National Center on Family Homelessness estimates that the graduation rate of children experiencing homelessness is less than 25%.³ Families cannot thrive without safe, stable housing. Schools cannot thrive with a student body forced to live in unstable and deplorable conditions.

According to a recent research report by Stout Risius Ross on eviction prevention funds in Maryland, a fully funded program would more than pay for itself. Every dollar spent on eviction prevention saves the State \$2.39. A full $40 million investment in eviction prevention would yield approximately $92 million in cost savings or avoidance for the State by reducing homelessness and state-funded safety net costs related to shelter, assisting students experiencing homelessness, health care, foster care, decreased incarceration, and the economic impacts of increased employment and income stability. On education alone, Stout estimated that a fully funded eviction prevention funds program (about $40 million) would provide $23.75 million in benefits to the State through better education outcomes for students and an increase in federal funds.

Eviction prevention through rental assistance furthers gender and racial equity. Women-led (70%) and Black-led (74%) households have avoided eviction with help from the state's current emergency rental assistance program and likely will be evicted at much higher rates unless the Governor and General Assembly take action.

Maryland cannot be a national leader in leaving no one behind, ending childhood poverty, righting the racial wrongs of the past, and ensuring shelter for all without investing in eviction prevention funds.
