

vmcavoy
po41075 baltimore md

UNFAVORABLE on HB1283 (2024)

Insurance – Discrimination – Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity

Delegates Martinez, Acevero, Bagnall, Cullison, Fair, Kaiser, R. Lewis, and Vogel
Assigned to: Economic Matters

Economic Committee Members,

I urge you to vote down this pathetic bill crafted to make you believe that Maryland – where we have scant opposition to the weekly mutilation of teens in the name of LGBTQ performed by Planned Parenthood, in conjunction with the ideologically aberrant Dept. of Health – has any LGBTQ being denied reasonable insurance / health opportunities in Maryland. Chase Brexton, innumerable clinics (like Red Door and Clinic 555) as well as private insurance provides far, far more coverage than such a group does, given the long-standing, self-imposed health problems endemic in this group.

Such pathetic cultural Marxist, LGBTQ demands in the bill - “A surety insurer may not cancel or refuse to issue or renew a surety bond for a reason based wholly or partly” – is how Obamacare failed. It’s why Maryland’s health insurance unavailable to normal Marylanders; it’s why the Maryland Health Exchange stays in a stance of constant upset. Who can forget Anthony Brown’s failure as Lt. Governor?

<https://thedailyrecord.com/2014/06/06/health-exchange-website-problems-hang-over-brown/>

This bill is nothing but an episode of Cultural Marxist victimhood. It shows off LGBTQ mental illness and their unending “wound-licking” rather than improving their health by curtailing LGBTQ’s endless activities which damage society, peoples’ health and the health of those around/near them. Or don’t we acknowledge that mental illness can spark violence toward those around LGBTQ individuals? The CDC is clear on the matter.

While poor mental health is a common problem for youth, it is reported far more often by LGBTQ+ youth.

- In 2021, 69% of LGBTQ+* youth reported feeling persistently sad and hopeless. ...
- During the pandemic, LGBTQ+ high students were about 4 times more likely to attempt suicide than their heterosexual peers.

More items...

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (.gov)
<https://www.cdc.gov> > lgbthealth > youth

LGBTQ+ Youth | LGBT Health | CDC

It may be that – as has been affirmed in every DSM Manual and psychiatry literature while any of us were in school or college – these individuals are mentally ill. Mental Illness in LGBTQ is twice the rate of normal people.

I've heard LGBTQ delegates blame mental illness of the perceived “stigma” of those normal people around them. Committee, ask yourselves – which would be bothering LGBTQ more in a day:

1.) What Mary in the office next to an LGBTQ thinks of that LGBTQ ?

-or-

2.) These types of common physical ailments among LGBTQ ?

This is screen-capped from <https://Rainbowhealth.org>

Understanding Anal Health

- Aging HIV LGBTQ+ Health

<https://rainbowhealth.org/violet/health-education/articles/understanding-anal-health/>

Last updated on July 6, 2023

Anal sex is a very common practice among gay, bisexual, and queer men...

The fact is, a lot goes on down there. Many conditions can impact your anal health aside from HIV, gonorrhea, chlamydia, and syphilis. Clinics like Red Door in Minneapolis and Clinic 555 ...

If your rear end is troubling you, swallow that shyness and make an appointment to see a doctor. Your anus will thank you. Aside from HIV and STIs, what can disturb an otherwise happy and healthy butt?

Anal Itch

Known formerly as anal pruritus, it means the skin around your anus itches. The degree can range from an occasional itch to severe itching ... until it bleeds.

Treatment: Most often, a change in your daily life...will help to alleviate symptoms. Anal itch will typically go away with lifestyle changes, but talk with your doctor if it persists.

Fistula

A fistula-in-ano is a small, abnormal tube ... can result from physical trauma, infection, genetics, or certain illnesses, and if infected can cause drainage of pus and blood.

Causes: The fistula is caused by an infection in the glands of your anus, often when a piece of stool gets caught in the glands.... If the infection is very severe, or if it doesn't burst through the skin, you can end up with a perirectal abscess, a severe condition requiring medical treatment.

Treatment: In the long run, surgery is needed to clear out the infection and allow the tissue to heal. ... surgery may create a sizable wound...

Genital Warts (HPV)

According to Gayhealth.com, over one half of all men who have sex with men have human papillomavirus (or HPV), the virus that causes genital warts. This number is even higher in HIV-positive men: ninety percent of men with HIV also have HPV. In fact, HPV is one of the most commonly transmitted STIs.

Causes: HPV is spread through direct contact with the skin of someone who is infected, which means HPV can be transmitted even if you don't have penetrative sex. Since the virus can live in the skin on your scrotum, anus, and penis, a condom can't always protect you from HPV.

Diagnosis and Treatment: Treatment for genital warts can range from topical creams to surgery, however, there is no way to kill the HPV virus that causes warts. If you're carrying it and are prone to outbreaks, treatment is a necessary but temporary solution – you'll most likely see them again. Untreated warts can grow bigger and bigger until they bleed and cause significant pain, and can even cause anal cancer if left untreated.

Hemorrhoids

Hemorrhoids are a collection of abnormally dilated veins in the rectum.

Causes: While anal sex doesn't cause hemorrhoids, hemorrhoids can definitely make for more painful anal sex, so make sure to seek treatment.

Molluscum Contagiosum

Molluscum contagiosum is a contagious skin infection caused by a virus.

Causes: When the molluscum virus lands on your skin during sex or even through close non-sexual contact, it begins to reproduce. Within one to three months, a pin-sized pimple with a crater-like center will appear. You can usually see a white, cheesy-looking center under the crater.

The anus is one of the most common points of infection, but these pimples can also be found frequently on the inner thighs, groin, genitals, and lower abdomen. People living with HIV may also be at risk for the infection to spread to greater parts of the body.

Treatment and Prevention: There is no known medication to treat molluscum.

Perirectal Abscess

A perirectal abscess is a bacterial infection that most often begins in the small glands inside your anus. As the infection grows and spreads to areas around your rectum, the pain gets worse. A cavity filled with pus develops and the skin over it becomes red and swollen. The infection can become so severe that you develop a high fever and other signs of infection.

Causes: Most often this condition is caused by bacteria from a stool getting trapped inside your anal glands, and in rare instances, it can be caused by injuries during sex.

Treatment: If caught early, it can be treated with antibiotics and a warm bath soak. If it grows too large, surgery may be required to remove all of the pus.

Prostate Cancer

Prostate cancer affects one in five men over the age of fifty.

Diagnosis: Cancer cells produce more PSA than you'd normally find in your blood.

Treatment: Treatment for prostate cancer can involve radiation, surgery....

Prostatitis

Prostatitis is a bacterial infection of your prostate gland. Chronic prostatitis causes dull pressure or pain in your rectum or pelvis, and can also cause a burning sensation when you urinate or ejaculate. Acute prostatitis is much less subtle: what begins as dull pressure quickly turns into severe pain with chills, high fever, and an enlarged prostate that can prevent you from being able to urinate.

Cause: Prostatitis develops when bacteria enters your urethra (the opening to the penis) and passes through to your prostate. Particular risk occurs when two partners share toys that have been inserted into the urethra

While graphic, this trope of how normal people's feelings impute harm to LGBTQ is ridiculous when juxtaposed with the actual, willful harm which LGBTQ do themselves (physically, societally, culturally, spiritually, et cetera).

It may be that LGBTQ are viewed differently by statisticians and actuaries due to significant health problems not seen in most normal people – highest rates of HIV in homosexuals and now lesbians; primary transmitter (even to animals) of monkey pox; levels of drug addiction and alcohol abuse nearly 4 times that of normal people; highest levels of domestic violence, notably among lesbians and bisexuals (per CDC); pedophilia and inappropriate sexual encounters with children over TEN times that of normal people (Family Research Council white paper, 2014); cult-like aggression regarding body mutilation and castration – EVEN AMONG CHILDREN – by people clearly possessed of the unnatural and hateful of their human shells; and the growing trend of murderous gunfire episodes, such as at the Christian Dayschool in Tennessee, where a “transgender” youth took arms to children and killed six people.

It may be that God-fearing people who read the actual words of the Bible affirm that LGBTQ sins are crimes against God, sins that 'cry out to Heaven', and are horrendous sins against nature (the word 'sod' (dirt) is associated with 'sodomy') and do not want to pay additional costs in their insurance premiums due to the huge and wide number of health problems endemic to LGBTQ. These complications are GROTESQUELY AMPLIFIED when it comes to transgenderism. Paying $4million extra per youth indoctrinated into the transgender cult is unwanted and unfair to all normal and God-fearing people.

But that doesn't mean in Maryland LGBTQ are deprived of any natural right due them involving insurance. It means that LGBTQ personal choices should deny them certain healthcare options based on how they live their life.

This bill will create needless frivolous encounters with insurance companies, human resources folk and will – just as the Maryland Exchange did CONCLUSIVELY – force insurers to leave Maryland. This movement harms everyone. It is a depraved bill aiming to clog our systems on account of perversions, mental illness, illness from sexually transmitted diseases, all in the name of what LGBTQ people do with their sexual organs. Anal penetration is not a skill, it is depravity and the height of unhealthfulness; depravity coupled with victimhood for their chosen perversion.

Please vote this bill down and demand better from Democrat “leadership”.
humbly
~vince