Re: House Bill 693 – Tenants' Rights and Stabilization Act of 2024 (SUPPORT)

The Consumer Protection Division of the Office of the Attorney General (the "Division") supports Governor Moore's House Bill 693 that seeks to promote additional protections, funding, and opportunities for tenants, and to put systems in place to help decrease tenant displacement and preserve single-family residential units that are affordable to low- and moderate-income households. In particular, House Bill 693 seeks to expand tenants' rights and protections, and increase funding, by: (1) increasing the eviction filing fee in Maryland and distributing the additional funds to Maryland's Access to Counsel Program and Statewide Rental Assistance Voucher Program; (2) decreasing the maximum security deposit a landlord is permitted to collect to one month's rent; and (3) creating an Office of Tenants' Rights housed in the Department of Housing and Community Development. Additionally, House Bill 693 seeks to decrease tenant displacement and preserve affordable housing for low- and moderate-income households by mandating a tenant's right of first refusal. Landlord-Tenant complaints are the single largest number of complaints the Division's Mediation Unit receives each year. The proposed components of House Bill 693 would address many of the complaints the Division receives.

Filing Fee Increase:

First, House Bill 693 represents a renewed attempt to bring Maryland's eviction filing fee in line with other states and to provide needed funding for the Maryland Legal Services Corporation and the newly created Statewide Rental Assistance Program. House Bill 693 would increase the surcharge assessed in failure to pay rent, breach of lease, and tenant holding over actions from $8 to $93. The bill would also prevent landlords or the courts from requiring tenants to cover the cost of the surcharge, which would protect tenants who are already struggling to make ends meet from having to shoulder additional financial burdens. Housing instability has persisted in Maryland since well before the pandemic¹ and continues to foist the associated negative effects onto communities of color.²

Importantly, House Bill 693 would distribute the proceeds of any filing fee increase to two housing programs recently adopted by the Legislature: (1) the Access to Counsel in Evictions Program, and (2) the Statewide Rental Assistance Voucher Program. Maryland was the second state in the Nation to adopt a program to provide legal representation to qualified tenants in eviction court.³ Likewise, the Legislature in 2023 adopted a Statewide Rental Assistance Voucher Program to provide access to affordable housing to families languishing on federal subsidized housing waitlists. While the Legislature has provided initial funding for each program, the Access to Counsel Task Force has recognized that “[w]ithout question, the success and effectiveness of the Program hinges on a continuous and stable source of funding.”⁴ The funding structure proposed by House Bill 693 would provide both programs with stable funding that is necessary for their continued success in serving the most vulnerable of Maryland’s tenants.

Security Deposit Decrease to One Month’s Rent:

Presently, a landlord may not require a tenant to pay a security deposit that exceeds the equivalent of two months’ rent per dwelling unit, regardless of the number of tenants. Md. Code Ann., Real Prop. §8-203(b). House Bill 693 would reduce a tenant’s security deposit liability to one month’s rent and bring Maryland in line with at least thirteen other states,⁵ including Maryland’s neighbors -- Washinton D.C. and Delaware. Reducing the maximum amount a landlord could charge as a security deposit would ease the financial burden Maryland tenants face when trying to enter new rental housing.

Office of Tenants' Rights:

House Bill 693 also seeks to create an Office of Tenants' Rights within the Department of Housing and Community Development. The Office of Tenants' Rights would serve as an education resource for tenants through the creation of an annual Tenants' Bill of Rights and other resources. Landlord-tenant complaints are the largest subsection of complaints the Division receives each year. The creation of additional resources for tenants to understand their rights when faced with disputes with their landlords will assist the Division in mediating and investigating the complaints it receives.

Tenant Rights of First Refusal:

Finally, House Bill 693 seeks to create a right of first refusal for tenants residing in residential property when the owner has received a bona fide proposed contract of sale from a third party. Providing tenants with the opportunity to purchase the residential unit they are already residing in decreases displacement and preserves housing affordability and stability within communities.⁶ In fact, the Coalition for Nonprofit Housing and Economic Development found that Washington D.C.'s tenant right of first refusal law, since 2006, has preserved 16,224 affordable housing units, reduced displacement, and improved housing conditions.⁷ The Division has consistently supported legislative efforts that increase housing affordability and community continuity. House Bill 693's tenant right of first refusal would provide Maryland's low- to moderate-income tenants additional avenues to affordable homeownership while reducing tenant and community disruptions.

For the reasons stated above, the Consumer Protection Division supports House Bill 693 and requests the Environment and Transportation Committee provide a favorable report.

By affording tenants the chance to purchase their rental properties during sales, [the right of first refusal] aims to ensure housing security, tenant empowerment, and affordability.").
