

AAA Mid-Atlantic's Testimony in SUPPORT of SB 442 Street Racing and Exhibition Driving - Prohibited Acts, Enforcement, and Penalties

Sponsor: Senators Beidle, Augustine, and Gile

- AAA Mid-Atlantic supports Senate Bill 442, which increases penalties for those participating in illegal racing or speed contests on Maryland roads and establishes a state wide ban on exhibition driving on any highway or private property that is used for driving by the general public. The bill also authorizes a police officer to order the towing and impounding of a vehicle that is driven in a race or is the subject of an exhibition driving violation.
- The bottom line is—speed kills—and our roadways and parking lots are not race tracks.
- In 2022, there were 534 fatal crashes in Maryland, resulting in 566 deaths, according to preliminary data from the MDOT MVA Highway Safety Office. Speed was a factor in 110 of those fatalities and contributed to 2,185 injuries on Maryland roads. (Source: MDOT MVA Highway Safety Office, data as of February 12, 2024)
- Recently, law enforcement across the country, and here in Maryland, have cited an increase in illegal street racing. These "meet-ups" are often promoted via social media channels and wreak havoc across the state.
- Last October, Baltimore County Police investigated reports of several unauthorized car rallies in Woodlawn, Owings Mills and Halethorpe, according to media reports. Not only do these illegal activities disrupt traffic and create chaos, they are dangerous.
- In 2022, Maryland State Police investigated a multi-vehicle crash on Interstate 70, which was the result of illegal street racing.
- And in Baltimore City, despite a stiff city ordinance creating tougher penalties, illegal street races persist in some Baltimore neighborhoods.
- In 2020, the MD State Police Golden Ring Barrack received 93 calls about illegal racing in Baltimore County alone.
- Tragically, in 2009, two people were killed and two more were seriously injured in Woodlawn as a result of illegal street racing on Interstate 70.
- In May 2019, 19-year old, Zach Friedlander and his dog were killed in Baltimore County as a result of a crash where the driver who hit him was reportedly street racing and driving at 116 mph in a 35 mph zone.

- And, in 2008, eight people were killed in Prince George's County when the driver of a car that was participating in an illegal race crashed into a crowd of spectators.
- In 2021, according to a Washington Post article, Maryland State Police conducted a joint law enforcement initiative focused on speeding and aggressive driving for a four-day period on Interstate 70, which resulted in the issuance of more than 300 traffic citations and warnings.
- While recent research by the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety found that even modestly higher speeds at the time of a crash dramatically increase the chances of severe injury and death, these dangerous illegal street races amplify those risks.
- Illegal street racing endangers everyone, including spectators. The reckless and irresponsible actions of those who choose to treat our roads as a race track have resulted in traffic disruption and fatalities on our roads.
- AAA has worked with bill sponsors for the last few years in support of this legislation to crack down on racing and make Maryland roads safer.
- On behalf of AAA Mid-Atlantic's over one million Maryland members, we urge the Committee to give SB 442 a favorable report.
