TESTIMONY ON HB0709 - POSITION: FAVORABLE

Landlord and Tenant Residential Leases and Holdover Tenancies - Local Good Cause Termination (Good Cause Eviction)

TO: Chair Korman, Vice Chair Boyce, and members of the Environment and Transportation Committee

FROM: David M. Friedman

My name is David Friedman. I am a resident of District 14 in Colesville/Cloverly. I am submitting this testimony in support of HB709, Landlord and Tenant Residential Leases and Holdover Tenancies - Local Good Cause Termination (Good Cause Eviction).

I am an active member of Oseh Shalom, a Jewish Reconstructionist congregation located in Laurel, MD. Jewish tradition emphasizes that every person, regardless of race or income, should have a safe and stable home. One text particularly resonates with me - the prophet Micah understood that housing is more than a roof over one's head and that to deny a person safe housing is not only robbing them in the present but robbing their family for generations to come. As a long-time homeowner, I appreciate the importance of housing stability and am concerned about the challenges that many renters face in Maryland's dynamic housing market. Currently, corporate landlords can evict a tenant for no good reason and too many Marylanders face severe housing instability. HB709 provides an important tool for tenants and landlords and puts Maryland in step with many other states and localities with good cause eviction legislation.

This bill is particularly important to protect tenants from arbitrary, retaliatory, or discriminatory evictions, while not undermining legitimate business interests. Research shows that good cause eviction laws greatly decrease eviction filings meaning that fewer Marylanders would be at risk of being put out of their homes. The research is also clear that Good Cause Eviction has no impact on new housing development. As an enabling measure, HB709 allows, but not mandates, local counties to adopt their own good cause laws that meet local needs. It also exempts small landlords, keeping the focus on corporate landlords.

In our dynamic housing market, Maryland's local jurisdictions should have all the tools they need to address the challenge of providing safe, fair, and affordable housing for residents. I respectfully urge this committee to return a favorable report on HB709.
