

Dear Members of the Judicial Proceedings Committee,

This testimony is being submitted by Showing Up for Racial Justice Baltimore, a group of individuals working to move white folks as part of a multi-racial movement for equity and racial justice in Baltimore City, Baltimore County, and Howard County. We are also working in collaboration with Out for Justice. I am a resident of Maryland District 40, and I live in the Medfield neighborhood of Baltimore. I am testifying in support of SB0432 - Criminal Records - Expungement and Maryland Judiciary Case Search (Expungement Reform Act of 2025).

Showing Up for Racial Justice

In 2022, the Court of Special Appeals ruled that any probation violation means a conviction is indefinitely ineligible for expungement, based on a legal interpretation that a violation means that the individual has not “satisfactorily completed the sentence.” This is so regardless of the nature of the violation. This creates a problem that prevents people who violated their probation from ever getting their conviction expunged.

When a person’s conviction is ineligible for expungement, the record of the conviction can have devastating consequences for that person’s life. Potential consequences include being unable to rent an apartment, obtain employment or work credentials, gain admission to college or to programs that help pay for college, keep custody of one’s children, access some government services, or vote in elections.¹ In short, the potential consequences of unexpunged convictions severely hamper a person’s ability to live life to their fullest potential and meaningfully contribute to society. Our justice system should instead support people who want to participate fully in society and contribute to their communities. If they cannot get convictions for minor offenses expunged, they face a huge barrier to this participation.

SB0432, sponsored by Governor Moore, would support people petitioning for expungements by lifting the ban on expungements if a probation violation occurred (Abhishek Reform); adding seven (7) common misdemeanors to the expungement eligibility list; and removing all pardoned cannabis charges and 3-year stets from Case Search. These changes to existing expungement law will help ensure that misdemeanors or parole violations do not permanently alter the trajectory of a person’s life. The law will support people in moving on after minor offenses and participating successfully in society. This law is especially important given the fact that recreational use of cannabis is now legal.

It is for these reasons that I am encouraging you to vote in support of SB0432 - Criminal Records - Expungement and Maryland Judiciary Case Search (Expungement Reform Act of 2025).

Thank you for your time, service, and consideration.

Sincerely,
Christina L. Bell
