

Maryland PIRG

HB174: Special Elections - Procedures and General Assembly Vacancies and Ties Education, Energy, and the Environment

January 28, 2025

Emily Scarr, Maryland PIRG

Favorable

Maryland PIRG is a state based, small donor funded public interest advocacy organization with grassroots members across the state. We work to find common ground around common sense solutions that will help ensure a healthier, safer, more secure future.

Our democracy works best when everyone has a voice and everyone is represented. Voting for our local, state and federal representatives is fundamental to this vision, and is step one in a civically-engaged electorate and responsive government.

Twenty-eight states have some sort of special elections process for replacing legislative vacancies and it is time for Maryland to join them.

This legislation will reform the current appointment process by holding a special election if a vacancy is created before the candidacy filing deadline for the regular statewide primary held in the second year of the Maryland General Assembly term. This is a step in the right direction to reduce the role of appointments, but Maryland PIRG would support full special elections or more robust special elections if possible to reduce or eliminate the role of appointments.

The numbers vary year to year, but more than one in five Maryland state legislators were initially appointed by a party Central Committee rather than elected by voters.

These policymakers are committed to public service and their districts. But our democracy would be stronger if we joined state legislatures across the country that hold special elections to fill vacancies. Maryland is the only state with four-year State House terms, other than North Dakota, that relies on this political party appointment process.

There are some benefits to the appointment system. It saves money by avoiding the costs of a special election. But holding special elections for vacancies is a more democratic process, and a price we should pay.

There are also concerns that ending special elections will hurt candidates who are disadvantaged in the traditional election system, including women, people of color and young people. However noble, this intent should not be a reason to withhold the right to vote.

Fortunately, there are democratic tools to realize the goal of ensuring we have a representative General Assembly where candidates with a diversity in gender, race, age, and socio-economic background are able to run competitive races for office. One of the best tools the state has to reach this goal is small donor public financing, which is reducing barriers for seeking office in communities across the state. The legislature would be well served to join city and county governments across Maryland that have adopted such programs for legislative offices.

Our state legislators make important decisions on education, health, the environment and how our tax dollars are spent. Maryland is a national leader on democracy and ballot access. It's time to democratize the process to fill vacancies and support policies that are proven effective in building a representative democracy.

We respectfully request a favorable report.