

To whom it may concern,

Water quality testing is already widely available in Maryland, and free test kits are available across the state. The process of testing water isn't different in mobile homes than in any other, so there is no need for a process specifically for them.

Thank you,
Travis Lerol