Support HB 63, Fairness in Girls' Sports Act.

The safety of our young women should be paramount, and unquestionable. These young women are our up and coming members of society, potential mothers, and voters. There is much science that shows us that children born as biological males develop at different rates, and with more strength capability and size, than children born as biological females. Safety should always take the front seat when we discuss complex issues around biology. To protect women and girls, Maryland should pass the Fairness in Girls' Sports Act.
