To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing in favor of the protection of fairness in girls sports for multiple reasons.

The first reason, young women deserve the right be able to compete in their chosen sport and not worry about life changing injuries inflicted by a person that is scientifically and biology stronger than they are. This is why women's and men's sports are separated.

Secondly, it is unfair for girls that have worked and trained tirelessly to excel in their sport to have a male take a title they may be competing for because of proven physical differences.

And lastly and most important, young women should feel safe in their designated locker room. It is quite uncomfortable for a lot of young women to change in front of other young women in this stage of life let alone to be subjected to change in front of a biological male. As a grown adult I would be uncomfortable in this situation if it was pressed upon myself.

I would strongly urge you to take these concerns into account when considering this bill. Not only are young women being subjected to physical trauma it could cause mental trauma.

Sincerely,

Donna Combs
