November 4, 2024	Emergency/Proposed Regulations DLS Control No. 24-156 Maryland Department of Health: Food: Food Service Facilities: COMAR 10.15.03.27 The purpose of this action is to avert a potentially discriminatory and inequitable effect of regulations adopted pursuant to Health General Article §21-330.1 on the Amish and Mennonite communities. At-home producers of certain foods are exempt from the standard food service facility regulations under the allowances granted to “cottage food businesses.” This type of business consists of at-home food production in which a person/business has under $50,000 gross receipts, prepares food products in a private kitchen, sells products only in the State, and is limited to selling select non-hazardous foods only. When selling cottage food products, each product is required to have a label identifying the name and address of the cottage food business, or the name, phone number, and unique identification number provided by MDH. When offered for sale in retail establishments, the label must additionally include an email address of the cottage food business. The State has an interest in requiring a phone number/email address to contact the makers of food products sold in Maryland in order to react quickly to complaints and adverse food-related events. Without a means to contact food producers quickly, the State may be delayed in locating and identifying the cause of a foodborne outbreak, which could lead to further injury to	N/A	Emergency status approved beginning November 27, 2024 and expiring May 26, 2025.

	the public. Further, businesses have an interest in being contacted quickly and efficiently, so that the State can rapidly conclude if they are not likely to have been responsible for the outbreak. The Amish and Mennonite communities in Maryland do not have personal phones or email addresses. To legally market their cottage food products, those communities need an alternative to providing a personal phone number/email address, such as providing a designee's phone number/email address. While the statute and regulations do not explicitly prohibit this, the regulated community felt uncertain about whether the wording allowed this. In response to requests from multiple stakeholders, the Department is seeking this modification to the regulation to clarify that the phone numbers/email addresses do not need to be a cottage food business's direct personal contact information so long as MDH is able to contact the business.
